AMERICA FEEDS ITS JOBLESS

U.S. STATESMAN IS GIVEN NOBEL PRIZE

KELLOGG AWARDED NOBEL PEACE PRIZE FOR YEAR OF 1929

PEACE PRIZE FOR 1930 WAS AWARDED TO SWEDISH ARCHBISHOP

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Frank B. Kellogg, former American secretary of state, today was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize for 1929.

The peace prize for 1930 was awarded to Dr. Nathan Soederblom, Archbishop of Upsala and pro-chancellor of the University of Upsala since 1014.

The Swedish primate was formally nominated for the prize nearly a year ago by a group of Swedish parliamentarians, and his name has since been endorsed by similar groups in Norway, England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Hungary.

Dr. Soederblom is identified with work for international peace through a union of churches. Five years ago he was the principal organizer of the Christian Unity conference held at Stockholm. He visited the United States in 1924.

No peace prize has been awarded since 1928, but the prize for that year cannot be awarded now because the statutes of the Nobel Foundation provide that a prize reserved for more than one year reverts to the general fund of the foundation.

Mr. Kellogg was mentioned for the Nobel prize some time ago in connection with his activities in-

Robber Strikes Woman Down and Robs Postoffice

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Struck over the head with a pistol wielded by a holdup man when she screamed, Mrs. Alma Mariana, postmistress at Medina Lake, was knocked unconscious this morning, and before she had recovered consciousness the two robbers who had entered her cafe in which the postoffice is located, had escaped with $40 in stamps and an undetermined amount of money taken from the cafe and the postoffice.

Mrs. Mariana's small child, who was present, was not harmed.

N. Y. Woman Catches Burglar, Turns to Police

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Kondrup, mother of two children, is a husky woman and when she shoulders the burden of the law somebody is a marked man.

She walked into a police station yesterday and pushed the sergeant's feet off the desk.

"I've got a burgler," she announced.

"You have a what?"

"A burglar,' she repeated, "I just caught him. Here he is."

Sure enough Mrs. Kondrup had—by the coat collar and the sleeve. She said she saw him come out of an apartment window with two suits of clothes and chased him several blocks before she snagged him. He gave his name as John Wilson, 29, and said he had been out on probation following a burglary last June.

INJUNCTION STOPS ADDITIONAL ROAD WORK IN DISTRICT

COMMISSIONERS ENJOINED FROM SPENDING MONEY IN DISTRICT ONE

Injunction proceedings stopping any contemplated new road construction in consolidated road district No. 1 and precinct 1, prohibiting the purchase of any additional road machinery, hiring additional labor, buying materials etc., but excepting the road projects now underway, were granted late Wednesday in the thirteenth judicial district court by Hawkins Scarborough, district judge, for T. J. Worthington, A Ferguson and others against the Navarro county commissioners court composed of Clay Nash, county judge; Jack Megarity, B. F. Guynes, J. Wesley Harris and D. D. Sawyer, commissioners; and J. M. Tullos, county auditor; and McClendon and Purnell, county engineers.

The case is styled E. M. Way, et al, vs. Navarro county, et al.

The order is restraining the county officials from contracting to buy additional machinery-tractors and any other character of

TEACHERS OPEN ANNUAL MEETING THURSDAY HOUSTON

CLARENCE WHARTON WELCOMES VISITORS; FILLERS MAKES SPEECH

HOUSTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Nearly a thousand teachers, from all parts of Texas, today heard Clarence Wharton declare that the present generation was a trustee, charged with safeguarding "the educational institutions handed down by our forefathers and with passing on to our children those same institutions, improved and greater."

Mr. Wharton, Texas historian, welcomed the teachers as delegates to the Texas State Teachers association's annual convention which got under way this morning at Sam Houston hall, where scores of exhibits of individual schools, county school system, school supply concerns and the like had been arranged.

He characterized the purpose of the convention as "building of character," and reviewed other notable conventions that have met here, declaring that none of them was a whit more important than the current one.

President H. D. Fillers of Corsicana opened the convention with a brief informal talk.

The convention which will continue through Saturday, has for its theme "The Forward Look in Education."

Statistics Tell Of German Debts

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The federal statistical bureau published figures today indicating that Germany at the end of September owed foreign creditors on a balance of investments at home and abroad roughtly 17,000,000,000 marks or about $4,250,000,000.

The bureau estimated that the Reich owed abroad an aggregate of twenty-six to twenty-seven billion marks of which eleven billion were represented by short term loans, nine billion three hundred million on long term loans, four billion on foreign investments and two billion in foreign owned realty. Against this German investments boards totalled from nine to ten billion marks.

INCESSANT SMOKING ALL PARTIES MARKS TRIAL FOR TREASON

SOVIET COURT HEARING IS MORE LIKE MOVIE SETTING THAN ANYTHING ELSE

MOSCOW, Nov. 27. — (AP) — A lawyer with a cigarette in his hand shot questions in a firm voice at a black-haired, bespectacled man on trial for his life in the Soviet "House of Columns" today while four judges, blowing clouds of smoke over the courtroom bent forward to listen.

This is the way they conduct a trial for treason in Russia. The defendant, as the proceedings resumed today was M. Kuprianov, one of eight men charged with fomenting a fantastic plot to overthrow the Soviet government, with the aid of several foreign powers.

Professor L. K. Ramzin, apparently the arch-plotter, looked himself more like a judge than a defendant. He sat close to the bench, with a set of sound magnifiers at his ears so that he could more readily hear the testimony. He busied himself continually making notes, and followed every move with eager interest.

An American would have thought

Rules Committee Is Formed in Austin to Guide Legislature

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A committee of ten members of the 42nd legislature was organized today to formulate house and senate rules for operation under the recently voted constitutional amendment increasing the length of sessions from 60 to 120 days. The committee will meet Dec. 20 in Austin to draft the rules.

Lieutenant Governor-Elect Edgar E. Witt of Waco, and Fred Minor of Denton, prospective speaker of the house, were named co-chairman. Senate members of the committee were George Purl of Dallas; Walter Woodul of Houston; W. A. Williamson of San Antonio and Walter Woodward of Coleman. House members named were Harry Graves of Georgetown and T. H. McGregor of Austin. Minor said he would appoint two other house members in the next few days.

GREETINGS---AS FLIGHT ENDS

Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith photographed with his fiancee, Miss Mary Powell, shortly after his arrival at Sydney, Australia, at the conclusion of his record-breaking flight from England. Smith covered the distance in 10½ days, cutting nearly five days off the old record formerly held by Bert Hinkler.

TWO CONVICTS ARE DEAD AND OTHERS WOUNDED IN FIGHT

GUARDS FINALLY QUELL DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE MADE WEDNESDAY

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—One guard and two convicts lay wounded in a hospital today and two convicts were dead. The result of a desperate gun fight between three guards and the convicts yesterday when they attempted to escape from a truck returning to the prison from a wood chopping camp.

Wheeler McCulley, 30, convicted burglar from Tarrant county, and Tony Corona, 20, "Phantom bandit" from Houston, were killed. Tom Shook, former police chief at Electra serving a 35-year sentence for mirder an drobbery with firearms; Argyle Guyton, alias Jim Talley, 30, convicted robber from Wilbarger county, and F. O. Ross, prison guard, were wounded.

Shook, whose arm was amputated after the shooting; Tally, who suffered a pistol bullet wound in the wrist, and Ross, who got buckshot wounds in both legs, all were improving today, officials at the penitentiary said, and probably would recover.

The truck was returning from the wood camp at 4:45 p. m., bringing 27 convicts and two guards, Ross and Leonard Osborne, when McCully and Corona suddenly attacked the guards, knocking both men from the truck. A trusty driving the truck halted it immediately and shouted to the other convicts to "stay on the truck or you'll get killed."

Shook and Talley joined in the attack upon the guards and they were soon disarmed. McCully and Corona were back away from the

NO "HAND ME DOWN" CONSTITUTION FOR INDIA IS DESIRED

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)— No "hand me down" constitution tried out by other nations will fit India in the opinion of Sir John Simon, head of the Somon commission on India, who addressed the English-Speaking Union Thanksgiving luncheon attended by many prominent members of the American colony today.

"What is needed is not a general phrase," he said, "but a detailed plan which faces indisputable facts."

These facts he described as differences in caste religion, illiteracy among the rural population and the "constant menace against the northwest frontier" possible invasion.

"But nothing must be allowed to invalidate the pledge of the British people for the progressive realization of responsible government in India," he added.

Sir John also danger in "too precise a definition" of the standing of other members of the British commonwealth. "It may even be a club to curb growth." The commonwealth of nations idea he pictured as modern Britain's contribution to the science of government.

ALL OF CORSICANA QUIETLY OBSERVES THANKSGIVING DAY

RELIGIOUS SERVICES, FAMILY DININGS AND OTHER VARIETIES ACTIVITY

A clear cool day with just enough tang in the air to invigorate the body was the setting for the major portion of Corsicana's celebration of the great American holiday—Thanksgiving.

The celebration was marked by a wide variety of activities, which included religious services by many of the churches, pep rallies, family dinings, dances, golfing, hunting with the Corsicana-Cleburne football game as the center of interest for thousands Thursday afternoon.

A number of others attended the traditional football epic at Austin between the University of Texas Longhorns and the Texas Aggies, and the usual festivities that follow the contest.

Several churches held special Thaknsgiving services Wednesday night, while others held their Thursday morning, and still others were scheduled for Thursday night. Special musical numbers and appropriate sermons or addresses comprised the program for the majority of the services.

To the school students, the

ARKANSAS FARMER KILLS WIFE AFTER SON FAILS PROTECT

PARAGOULD Ark., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lee Dunham, 45, farmer, killed his wife with a gun he had taken from his 16-year-old son who was trying to protect his mother, set fire to his barn and wounded another woman today. Neighbors overpowered him and called officers. The shooting was at the Dunham home two miles north of here.

The son, Earl, said his father was beating his mother and he rushed in with a shotgun to defend her. Dunham wrested the gun from the youth and shot his wife, Bertie, 36.

Officers said Dunham then set fire to his barn, went across the road and fired into the home of Goy Cotton, slightly wounding Cotton's wife, Beulah, 22.

Dunham will be charged with murder, officers said.

The son told officers an argument led to the shooting. Mrs. Dunham is survived by four children.

Befriended Men Save Denison City Jailer

DENISON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Three men in the city jail desiring their freedom for Thanksgiving attempted to rush Jailer H. Y. Parrott with stove pokers. Eleven sleepers accommodated by the jail with a bed for the night came to his aid and saved a delivery and possibly a severe beating for the jailer. The sleepers received commendation and the three prisoners received no turkey.

CONFESSED SLAYER HOUSTON OFFICERS MUST DIE IN CHAIR

HABEAS CORPUS REFUSED BY COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS THURSDAY

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Jess J. Maple, the man who preferred to die for murder rather than spend his life in prison, lost another legal fight today.

The court of criminal appeals, after an all-morning conference, ruled that it had no jurisdiction with which to order Maple another insanity hearing and refused an application by his attorneys for a writ of habeas corpus and mandamus.

Clarence Ginn, one of two attorneys representing the condemned man, who is scheduled to die in the electric chair early tomorrow, made a last gesture in behalf of his client by filing a motion for rehearing on the court's last action.

What disposition would be made of this motion was problematical. It was left with the clerk of the court who immediately placed it with other records in the case and locked his office for the day, judges of the court had gone home.

A copy of the petition for rehearing was sent Governor Dan Moody by registered mail. It should reach him late this afternoon. However, he already has said he would not extend further clemency to Maple.

Ginn and his associate, F. O. Fuller, left for Houston immediately after filing the rehearing motion.

Ginn based his application for rehearing on the contention that the appeals court overlooked the

NEW YORK OBSERVES THANKSGIVING WITH TRADITIONAL FEAST

IF ANY WENT HUNGRY IN RICHEST CITY IN WORLD THEY ALONE KNEW IT

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Tanned to a crisp golden brown and stuffed to the bursting point with chestnuts, onions and sage, the bird that made Thanksgiving day famous met the enemy in New York today and succumbed to the lively rattle of 6,000,000 knives and forks.

There was turkey for nearly everybody. And when there wasn't turkey there was chicken. For New York is the richest city in the world, and, if anybody went hungry within her five boroughs today, it was because New York didn't know about it. First of all, she saw to it that there was plenty of activity today in kitchens where there hasn't been so much going on of late. Thousands and thousands of baskets—social workers say the number would undoubtedly

Body Unidentified Man Found Propped Against Building

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The body of a well-dressed unidentified young man shot through the head was found propped against a building at Sixth and Delaware streets here early today. It was the third homicide in Kansas City in three days.

Police expressed bellew the man had been slain where the body was found.

He had been dead several hours. A trouser pocket was turned inside out, indicating a robery motive.

The other two murder victims were William H. Price, 20, retail bread salesmen, shot to death by two robbers who police believe he was resisting in a holdup late yesterday; and Ralph Farnella, characteried by police as a small time bootlegger, who was called from his home and slain Tuesday night.

DALLAS MAN FOUND DEAD

DALLAS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Fred Faust, 28, wa sfound dead with a bullet wound through his heart at his lunch stand today. A pistol lay on the counter. No reason was advanced for the shooting.

COASTING VESSEL LOST.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Port authorities have been advised of the sinking of the coastwise vessel Leviathan off Tevoltla bar with a loss of nine lives among passengers and crew. The craft was caught in a storm. The captain and one seaman were the only survivors.

Modern Mercury Uses Plane Cover Large District

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Representative Scott Leavitt of Montana, believes he has the modern seven league boots.

He is the only Montana republican in congress. His state has two democratic senators and one democratic representative. His district is about as big as New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey combined. But he was reelected by a 7,000 vote majority after stumping tours which took him several thousand miles and required that he sometimes speak in mid-afternoon nearly 300 miles from his morning stand.

Where the owners of the seven league boots walked, Leavitt flew. Seven times he was able to maintain his schedule only by using an airplane.

ZERO WEATHER IS ADDING MISERY TO CHICAGO HOLIDAY

SEVERAL DEATHS REPORTED AS BLIZZARD SWEEPS MIDDLE WEST

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A night of zero and near zero temperatures in the wake of widespread snowstorms today piled higher the cold wave's drifts of misery and fatilities.

Eleven deaths had been added to the toll and though the weather bureau promised moderation of the severe cold in most of the Chicago forecast district, snow flurries were also predicted to increase the blanket which covered much of middle America.

A night blizzard in Ohio brought five traffic deaths and grounded all planes at Cleveland, three deaths occurred in Indiana and three more were attributed to cold in Chicago as the mercury dipped below zero in the suburbs.

A blinding snow storm at Argoy, Ind., caused the death of a woman when her son-in-law drove in front of a train. At West Terre Haute, Ind., a truck driver was killed when his machine skidded over an embankment into a pond. A man at Mishawaka, Ind., was fatally injured when his car skidded and overturned.

REAL THANKSGIVING FOR UNEMPLOYED IS FEATURE OF DAY

THOUSANDS FED ON AMERICA'S FEAST DAY AND JOBS ARE IN PROSPECT

(By The Associated Press.)

America came forward with a generous outpouring of Thanksgiving Day viands and future prospects of jobs today to give its army of unemployed something to be thankful for.

From coast to coast and from Great Lakes to Gulf, municipalities, charitable organizations and ordinary citizens joined to see that none went hungry. On all sides the watchword was: "No one must go without a Thanksgiving dinner."

Here are some of the things the big cities did:

New York—The mayor's unemployment commitete distributed 450 tons of food to needy families. Other organizations either delivered food or invited the poor in from the strets to dine. A committee of bankers and business men gave its ten thousandth job to an unemployed family head.

Chicago Aids Many.

Chicago—Charitable organizations and citizens assured its unemployed and other unfortunates a day of Thanksgiving with plenty of food for all. Thousands of provisioned baskets were delivered to destitute families. Scores of restaurants fed all worthy comers

Wealthy Farmer and Stockman Is Burned to Death

WHITEWRIGHT, Nov. 27.—(AP)—J. A. Bryant, 46, wealthy bachelor farmer and stockman of Whitewright, was burned to death early today in a fire here which destroyed the large home of T. E. Sears.

Sears escaped with slight burns and cuts by jumping through a window. He and Bryant were the only occupants of the house at the time. Origin of the fire was not known.

Officers planned to question another man who was at the Sears house last night.

AUTHORITIES SCORE AGAINST GANG RULE WHEN PROMINENT MEMBERS SENT UP FOR YEARS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27—(AP)—Authorities behind Chicago's drive against "public enemies," scored again—this time by sending back to the penitentiary for 39 years, James (Fur) Sammons, beer gang gunman, who has been at odds with the law for more than thirty years.

With little ceremony, the graying gangster was returned to the penitentiary at Joliet yesterday, thus becoming the second "public enemy" to be put behind state prison bars. At Joliet Sammons joined George (Red) Barker, another "public enemy" and alleged labor union racketeer, recently committed. Sammons, like Barker, was sent back to prison as a parole violator.

Arraigned before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of criminal court, following a ruling by Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom that his parole on a murder charge in 1923 was illegal, Sammons made a futile plea on his own behalf and then was quickly hustled away to Joliet. At one time he was under sentence of death for killing Patrick Barrett, a saloon keeper in 1903, but the penalty was commuted to 50 years sentence, and Carlstrom ruled the parole law did not apply to commuted sentences.

Sammons became the ninth of the 28 "public enemies" named by the Chicago crime commission, removed, temporarily at least, from illegal businesses. Two, Jack Zuta and Joe Aiello, were killed by gangland bullets. The others were Sammons' fellow prisoner, Barker; Willie Neimoth, held in Maryland fo robbery; Jack Guzik and Ralph Capone, avicted of income tax law violations; Jack White, now held pending trial for slaying a policemtn; and Dan Stanton, who is held for removal to Wisconsin for trial as Zuta's slayer.

GOVERNMENT SUSTAINED.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Tardieu government was sustained today by a margin of seventy-eight votes on a question of confidence in connection with a bill providing for expenditure of seventeen billion francs, (about $680,000,000) on a vast public improvements program.

AGED TAYLOR RESIDENT DIES

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Henry F. Long, 88, pioneer resident of Taylor, died here yesterday after a brief illness. Among survivors is a daughter, Mrs. C. G. Feist of Waco.

Woman and Two Men Arrested Following Chase

One white woman and two white men were arrested Wednesday afternoon on West Thirteenth avenue by Deputy Sheriffs J. M. Westbrook and Jack Floyd after a considerable chase. The trio were charged by complaint with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws and later made bonds in the sum of $750 each to await the action of the Navarro county grand jury.

About 12 gallons of liquor were reported to have been in the car, and one of the men was said to have wielded a hatchet breaking up the liquor, but one of the cartons which contained a quantity of the fluid, failed to leak and the officers secured about five gallons for evidence.

One Negro Patient Burned Death When Asylum Destroyed

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 27.—(AP)—One negro was burned to death early today when fire destroyed the three-story negro ward of the State Insane hospital from which 330 other inmates were marched to safety.

Hospital attaches investigating the ruins found a body on the third floor near the bathroom in which the fire was thought to have started either from a defective wiring of by an inmate.

KILLED BY AUTO

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—George A. Roddy, 39, superintendent of the Palmolive-Peet company was killed here today when he stepped from behind his stalled automobile into the path of a machine driven by Edgar Perry.

NEW YORK POLICE VICE GRAFT CHARGES STIRRING MAYOR WALKER TO ACTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Testimony of police graft from vice caused a stir in political circles today.

Newspapers said republican leaders were considering launching a legislative investigation into Mayor Walker's administration on the basis of charges brought out at the appellate court's inquiry into the magistrates' courts.

Mayor Walker and Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney promised to sift the allegations to the bottom and bring the accused to a speedy trial, if the evidence warranted.

"You can depend upon it that if there is anything to it," there is nobody in the police department who can get away with it," Mayor Walker said.

"I'm going to sit in and listen to any testimony of that kind personally," said Mr. Mulrooney. "I'll get transcripts of the testimony given before Referee Samuel Seabury and will study them and then take action."

"The commissioner defended Police Inspetcor Thomas T. Ryan against any implication that he might have been involved, when informed that the witness had mentioned an "Inspector Ryan" as one of those with whom he dealt.

"If Ryan isn't an honest man, there isn't an honest man in New York—and I've known him for 34 years," he said.

Inspector Ryan himself termed the testimony "an absolute lie." Other policemen and detectives mentioned refused to comment.

"Chile" Mapocha Acuna, 31-year-old South American, testified he had been employed as a stool-pigeon by the police. In less than a year, he said, he played the part of the "unknown man" in more than 150 framed-up immorality cases in which he and the police benefited financially. He named 28 policemen.

Says Ryan Not Man

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Daily News said in a copyrighted story today that "Chile" Acuna, former polict stool pigeon, had denied he named Inspector Thomas T. Ryan as the detective who hired him to "frame" women in vice cases.

Shown photographs of Inspector Ryan, the News said, Acuna declared "I never saw this inspector in my life. He certainly is not mixed up in this vice case so far as I know. It was an entirely different man, introduced to me as Inspector Ryan."

MEXICANS PURSUE BANDITS KILLING AMERICAN RANCHER

EL PASO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mexican fiscal guards today took up the trail of four heavily armed bandits who were reported speeding toward the fastnesses of the Sierra Madre range in the state of Chihuahua following their raid on a ranch home on the American side of the Rio Grande yesterday.

Ramos Barajas, 50, was killed during the foray and $1,500 in currency was taken.

Wood choppers reported seeing the quartet in an automobile speeding along the Mesarod last night, headed in the direction of the mountain refuge.

Sheriff Tom Armstrong of El Paso county and a posse crossed into Mexico and discovered evidence as to the manner in which the crime was committed. The bandits parked their car on the Mexican side of the international line, forded the stream, murdered Barajas, a farmer,. in the presence of his wife and children and returned to Mexico.

Automobile tracks were traved several miles and they turned off the main highway into a little used road leading to a mining town in a remote sections of the mountains.

Testimony Started Click Murder Trial

LLANO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Leslie Scott, J. B. Long and Minnie Long were the first witnesses today in the murder trial of Ray Click, charged with the slaying of C. W. Walker.

They said Click left his automobile with a rifle in his hand and approached the tractor in which Walker was sitting. Scott said Walker dodged around the tractor, with his hands up, begging for life

Click fired at Walker while Walker was running, witnesses said. Walker, unarmed was wounded in the back, they testified.

CEREAL MAGNATE TURNING MILLIONS TO AID CHILDREN

W. K. KELLOGG ESTABLISHED CHILD WELFARE FOUNDATION FOR MILLION

BATTLE CREEK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—W. K. Kellogg, breakfast cereal magnate, is turning his millions to the aid of underprivileged children.

Dr. J. Stuart Pritchard of the Battle Creek sanitarium staff yesterday was named medical director of the W. K. Kellogg Welfare foundation. He will start Dec. 1 devoting his full time to the foundation, first studying other foundations, and drafting a definite program.

Mr. Kellogg is understood to have placed $1,000,000 to the credit of the foundation, which was incorporated at Lansing, Mich., several months ago.

Although the foundation will not start to function until Dec. 1, a start already has been made on the work it is intended to carry on. Mr. Kellogg has established here the Ann J. Kellogg school for underprivlieged children, now being erected jointly by the Battle Creek school district and Mr. Kellogg. At Sherman lake, in Kalamazoo county Mr. Kellogg has purchased the site for a camp where such children may spend summer vacations.

The foundation, however, will not limit its activities to Michigan. As its program is worked out, aid will be extended wherever the need becomes apparent and necessary arrangements can be made.

Seven Men Held In Lingle Case

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Seven men were arrested by state's attorney investigators last night in a raid on a hotel were taken to the officers of the board of strategy investigating the murder of Alfred Lingle, newspaper reporter slain June 9. They were questioned by Patrick Eoche, chief investigator for the states' attorney, who declined, however, to reveal their identity or say whether the raid was linked with the reporter's death.

HEATED DEBATE OCCURRED IN DELIBERATIONS GENEVA DISARMAMENT COMMISSION

GENEVA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Titans of the preparatory disarmament conference exchanged rhetorical blows today in a heated debate over relative obligations of the victors and the vanquished in the world war, with Count Von Bernstorff of Germany and Lord Cecil of England in the thick of the fighting.

The conflict centered about the new French thesis that the victors have the option of reducing armaments or leaving the situation as it is.

Von Bernstorff, primed for this struggle, said he would feel justified in voting against the whole tentative convention draft if it contained such a proposal, and the aged Britisher sprang in unexpectedly with a charge that Germany's delegate was obstructing the whole conference.

Massigli of France, who had been expected to take a leading part in the discussion, merely stated his country's position and sat back while Von Bernstorff and Lord Secil fought it out.

The Franco-British proposal, as it was offered formally read:

"The present convention shall not in any way diminish the obligations of previous treaties under which certain of the high contracting parties agreed to limit their military, naval or air armaments an dthus fixed in relation to one another their respective rights and obligations in this convention."

The German heard it read, announced his opposition and declared the convention as it concerns land armaments and abject failure. Lord Cecil asserted the German charge was "absolutely devoid of foundation."

Of the other delegates, none of whom spoke at length, some supported the Anglo-French thesis and others characterized the whole issue as a purely political matter which should be left to the league's disarmament conference itself.

The American, British and French delegations, however, headed the majority opposing this move, and at length the question was referred to a sub-committee.

The Bernstorff-Cecil debate began when the German asserted that the commission had utterly failed to accomplish reduction of land armaments.

"It seems astounding," Lord Cecil shot back, "that a responsible person not carried away by passion and prejudice should make such a statement. We have agreed to limitation of the numbers of effectives, to separate limitation of officers and professional soldiers of every arm. We have achieved budgetary limitation of total expenditures for armaments. In the face of these facts to say that we have done nothing is to make a statement devoid of foundation.

Count Berstorff came back quickly. "Is it devoid of foundation," he asked, "to say that naval and air materials are to be limited and land materials are not? I have agreed with Lord Cecil on most points in this commission for four years. If I have changed it is because the question of land armaments has been sacrificed to sea armaments. What is needed is a 'parity security.'"

JURY FAILS AGREE IN ALLEGED OFFICE SELLING NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A supreme court jury is considering charges of office bartering against Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader, and Thomas T. Tommaney, today reported a disagreement and was discharged.

For more than 22 hours the jury had been deliberating on the evidence in connection with the accusation that Healy and Tommaney accepted money to procure former Magistrate George F. Ewald his post on the bench.

Again and again they had told Supreme Court Justice McCook they were unable to reach a unanimous decision but he had repeatedly sent them back into their room.

The state contended Mrs. Ewald sent $10,000 to Healy through Tommaney about the time of her husband's appointment. Mr. and Mrs. Ewald also are under indictment awaiting trial.

SECOND MISTRIAL POSSIBLE.

BOSTON, Texas, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prospects for a second mistrial for Vester Cooper, 21, charged with murdering Paul Hunter, 23, loomed in district court here today when the jury had failed to report at 11 a. m. It had deliberated since 9 p. m. yesterday.

CAMP OWNER IS ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE WEDNESDAY

POLICE ARREST SEVERAL MEMBERS GANG RAILROAD THIEVES

ARKANSAS CITY, Kans., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Roy Gage, tourist camp proprietor was arrested here late yesterday after a raid in which city and county officers and railroad detectives found merchandise identified as stolen from railroad cars in Kansas and Oklahoma at his place.

Officers confiscated a truckload of tires, clothing, tobacco and other goods. They said he has admitted purchasing the goods from a gang of railroad thieves.

Seven alleged members of the gang have been arrested. One of them is in an Oklahoma City hospital after being shot by a sheriff. The others are in jail at Oklahoma City, Perry, Pawnee and Guthrie, Okla., and Gainesville, Texas.

Police said the thefts date back several months. No charge was filed immediately against Gage but he is expected to be held on a charge of receiving stolen property.

Search Continues For Noted Spanish Airmen Who Escapes

MADRID, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A bull fighter named Alfonsa Reyes had a hard time today convincing police that he was not the army officer of the same name who walked out of a military prison with Major Ramon Franco, Spain's premier aviator.

He was one of several who have been arrested and liberated in the country-wide search for the two fugitives which thus far has been fruitless.

The minister of foreign affairs said he had been unable to ocnfirm a report that Franco was at Lisbon, Portugal. It was understood, however, that if the flier has left the country his extradition will be demanded.

VETERAN EMPLOYEE DIES.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Death today came to Thad W. Smith, 73, in the employ of Bexar county for 54 years and who never shaved. Smith's father also served Bexar county for 35 years. Smith at the time of his death was deputy county clerk in charge of the marriage license bureau.

Plumber Makes Heroic Effort To Save Teeth

One Corsicana man faced Thanksgiving Day in a terrible predicament. He has lost his false teeth.

According to a story told by a local plumber this unfortunate citizen dropped his set of uppers and lowers into the drain pipe of the bathroom plumbing and the services of the plumber were enlisted in an effort to recover the valuable "teeth," but the molars had disappeared and could not be reached.

In the home of the hard-luck brother there has been prepared a sumptuous Thanksgiving feast, turkey with all accessories.

But now this means nothing to the toothless head of the house, for while the remainder of the family is enjoying the holiday repast he will be forced to take the mush and milk route and be satisfied with the soup course and an entree of bread "dunked" in gravy unless a spare set of "chewers" can be rigged up by some kind-hearted dentist.

Special Camera Will Copy Old Documents

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Miscrophotgraphic camera will be used by the Texas Knights of Columbus Histrical commission in copying ancient Spanish documents connected with the history of Texas, the commission decided yesterday. The commission is engaged in gathering data on the Catholic church in Texas.

The documents to be photographed are in the archivo general De Indias at Seville and are reports of Spanish explorers and padres who accompanied expeditions to Texas and Mexico.

Heavy Penalties For Attackers On Indian Armory

CALCUTTA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Heavy sentences were inflicted today by a special tribunal upon persons convicted of participation in the attack on the Chttagong armory in April. Six of the armory's defenders were killed in the assault.

Drs. Narayanchandra Roy, Buhpal and Bose were sentenced to transportion for twenty years and fourteen years rigorous imprisonment. Three others were sentenced to twelve years transportation and eleven years imprisonment. The transportation and imprisonment sentences in each case will run concurrently.

Two of the accused were acquitted and two received the king's pardon.

Commissioners Asked Untangle Finances of German Capital

BERLIN Nov. 27.—(AP)—The provincial governor of Brannenburg today appointed two state commissioners to untangle Berlin's finances. The city parliament has refused to pass the 1930 burget tion shows a total municipal indebtedness of $25,000,000 and the muddled fiancial situa-

The commissioners are authorized to levy new taxes, including a ten per cent surcharge on beer and spirits consumed in restaurants, as well as an additional tax on property, and to supervise collection of these levies. It was announced that state commissioners also may be appointed in other cities whose finances are not in order.

"Thanksgiving as Usual"

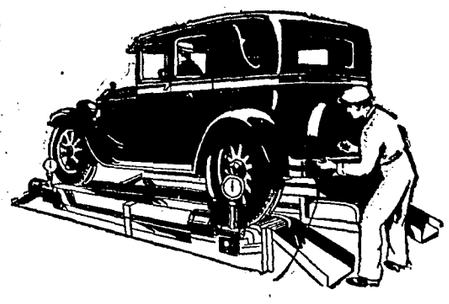

The shortage in material comforts in the average home this season emphasizes the importance of those essentials for human happiness which we are prone to overlook in prosperous times.

After all, its a mighty fine world and, truth to tell, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness constitute happiness.

Lure of Turkey Sent 2 Chicago Men Their Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Tempting turkeys, police said, lured two men to their deaths last night. Both were fatally shot.

First to die was a man who tried to cut his way through the window of the butcher shop of William Branska, where there was $3,000 worth of dressed turkeys. Branska, lay asleep in the rear of the place with a rifle with which to protect his stock. When he was awakened by the intruder, he fired the gun. The man died in a hospital after police had been forced to break the glass to extricate his body.

A few minutes later, in the same district, two policemen shot and killed a man as he fled from a butcher shop with an arm load of dressed turkeys, taken from the window of the place. He had broken the glass with a rock. He died in the same hospital to which the first had been taken.

LIMESTONE COUNTY TO GET DEEP TESTS; SHALLOW DRILLING

MEXIA, Nov. 26.—(Spl.)—In addition to continued drilling in the new Wright shallow oil field by the Irish Oil Company, two deep tests are to be made in Limestone county, and several other Woodbine operations will be under way.

The Irish Oil Company expects to complete a third shallow well soon. The N. B. Boyd No. 1 set casing Saturday night. This well is 1355 feet deep.

A derrick has been erected on the H. Henry survey, west of Nigger Creek oil field, near the Datura community, where E. I. Chatman, Fort Worth operator, expects to spud in in a few days. The test, which is on the S. W. Hancock tract, will be drilled to 4500 feet if necessary.

W. A. Reiter, Mexia geologist, has completed making a location for a test well one and one half miles west of Kosse. The well will be drilled by Al Yost and J. D. Schubert, Dallas. The location is on the Fenner tract, 7000 feet south of the famous Jones well of Kosse. Drilling will start by Nov. 30, and drilled to 4200 feet.

Dick Androde, Fort Worth, has blocked leases for a test on the Barron ranch near Thornton. W. R. Dearing has the drilling contract, but exact location has not been announced.

A local drilling concern is drilling for gas for domestic purposes at Kosse. The test had a fishing job at 650 feet.

NAVARRO CHURCH ON THE MOUNTAIN TOP.

Hopewell Baptist church at Navarro is greatly rejoiced in the fact that every department of the work is growing.

The last week-end services were great in every respect.

Sunday school reached the one hundred mark, B. Y. P. U. reached ninety-four and church attendance was remarkably increased and the church was on a spiritual mountain top having been fed with four soul-stirring sermons by the pastor M. M. Sheets. There were four additions to the church during this series of services which caused the church to greatly repoice in the knowledge of God's divine blessings.

There is much interest manifested in the church beginning a revival meeting the next regular preaching day which is the second Sunday in December.

Brother Sheets returned to his home in Talpa Monday rejoicing in the fact that God is blessing his efforts to serve Him as pastor of the Baptist church at Navarro.

OPPOSITION AGAIN FACES MAN FAVORED AS LABOR SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The same opposition which has gained credit for keeping William N. Doak out of the post of labor secretary at the beginning of the Hoover administration, was recorded against him today.

Because Doak, legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, William Green told President Hoover yesterday that his appointment would be opposed. Doak has figured as the favorite in discussion of the post, which will fall vacant next week when James J. Davis takes his seat as senator from Pennsylvania.

The federation president also registered opposition to elevation of Robe Carl White, assistant secretary, who is understood not to be a member of the labor organization.

Green maintained the federation felt the secretary of labor should come from its ranks. He pointed out that both Davis and William B. Wilson, who held the office before him, were members of his organization.

He named a list of acceptable men, all officials of unions affiliated with the federation. Green's stand was promptly criticized by Senator Fess of Ohio, republican national chairman, as unfortunate.

Fess said President Hoover should be allowed to make his own cabinet appointments.

FIFTY-FIFTY BREAK.

BAUXITE, Ark., Nov. 26.—(AP)—The only bank in Bauxite closed a few days ago and the only store of the village burned today, leaving 1,500 citizens without a place to save or spend their money.

Incendiarism is suspected in the destruction of the house, which involved a loss estimated at $70,000.

The village is made up of Republic Mining and Manufacturing Company employes and their families.

FARMER KILLED AND ROBBED

EL PASO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Roman Varajas, 60, farmer in the lower valley, was slain and his home robbed of $1,500 in cash today. Varajas was killed in the presence of members of his family.

Legge Says Now Good Time Make Wheat Purchase

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Chairman Legge of the farm board said today that now was a good time for millers and feeders to purchase wheat.

Addressing newspapermen at his press conference, the chairman said:

"If any of you are in the feeding or milling business go cover your requirements now."

The chairman added "It am not making any promises but the stuff is worth the money and it's a good time to buy it. Go buy it because it is cheap."

Asked if that meant the price of wheat would go up, the chairman smiled and reiterated that he was not making any promises.

The chairman was of the opinion that the wheat surplus is being reduced daily through feeding operations. He estimated that well over 200,000,000 bushels of wheat would be used for livestock feed this year.

Legge said he had no confidence in estimates of the Russian wheat crop and the amount that country has for export. All available information, he said, was "absolutely unreliable."

At the same time, he expressed the opinion Russie was making "quite a little progress" in wheat production and would restore itself to its prewar position as a wheat exporter within five years or less.

He again emphasized that this country, so far as wheat is concerned, should "get on a domestic basis"—domestic production equal to domestic consumption.

Questioned, he said with Russia restored to her old position as a wheat exporter "dollar wheat at Liverpool would be unusual."

There was no need, he continued for the price to go below that level in this country, provided domestic wheat production was all consumed here.

ABANDON HOPE OF FINDING MISSING TEACHER ALIVE

FORT MORGAN, Colo., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Arthur Gray, arrested Monday for investigation in connection with the disappearance of Miss Enid Marriott, 28 years old Wiggins, Colorado, school teacher, was released today by Sheriff R. A. Johnston.

The officers said Tom Schopflin and William Heeb, also held for investigation will be given their liberty later today.

Investigators checked apparent discrepancies in accounts of the men regarding their whereabouts at the time of the girl's disappearance, but learned the trio were not involved in the kindnapping.

In announcing release of the men, Sheriff Johnston said he now was convinced the teacher kidnapped and slain and unless unexpected developments provided new leads, further investigation would amount to search for the body.

GIVEN 35 YEARS IN PRISON.

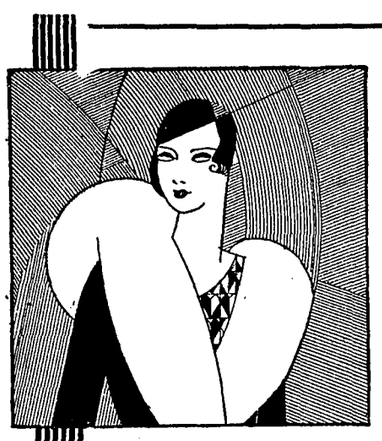

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Kirk Borders, 28, was given 35 years in the penitentiary by a jury today for robbery of M. Bullis. Borders was not represented by counsel and did not introduce a single witness. Bullis operated a salvage store and lost $160 in a holdup.

An Ancient "Tree Sitter" Who Made Religious History

Sawed-off Seeker Shinned Up a Sycamore To See the Great Teacher -- Adding A Plus to Life's Limitations -- Story of Zacchaeus.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

There are two kinds of people in the world: those who do things and those who talk about the others who do things; the observed and the observers. Most of mankind is in the second class; Jesus was in the first. He was during his life "cynosure of all eyes;" wherever He went and whatever He did, public interest stood agape. When He made His last memorable journey to Jerusalem, the procession stood aside to watch and comment. On this occasion it was that He met a real personality, Zacchaeus, the tax-collector.

The heroism of this calm, clear-eyed, unhesitating pilgrimage to Jerusalem, which Jesus knew perfectly was to be the city of His death, is something to dwell upon. The Master serenely faced His fate. Fear found no home in His heart. Duty was to Him a thing to be done, inevitably and unfearingly. To all the multitude of men and women who are called upon to front dreadful ordeals, He has left an inspiring example. The Christianlike way to meet a hard thing is with eyes open and without faltering or complaining. And His example has filled with fortitude countless human hearts.

The Unheeding World.

A man in the clutch of a great crisis wonders why the world goes on so sunnily, when midnight is upon him with all the stars blotted out. We heed not the soul dramas that are being enacted all about us. Here was the Son of God going up to the event that was to give history a new date of beginnings, and that was to become the central and most important fact in the life of the universe. Yet litle cared Perea or Judea for that; the gates of the cities resounded with the same shrill cries of traffic; every well-side held its group of idle gossipers, and all the petty concerns of a narrow existence engrossed the attention of the people until Jesus should come directly under their purview, when He, in turn, would furnish them with their chief item of conversation.

The real greatness of the Hero was revealed in this, that he did not spurn or shrink from these little people, with their small interests, but with a sympathetic tenderness that concealed His own supreme tragedy, He stooped to help the needs of men as He met them by the way. It is easy to live the life of the world in the world, or to live the life of the spirit apart from the world; but it is great to take the noblest impulses and heroisms of the spirit right down among men and there let them work out in unselfish ministry.

"Duds" and Bursts.

Today we study a singularly vital personality who caught the attention and favor of the Master on this journey to Jerusalem. Common slang describes a certain sluggish, unalert type of person as "a dead one," meaning thereby that he is not alive to his times and possibilities. Since the war ex-service men call this sort a "dud," or a shell that has failed to explode. This classification of people into "duds" and "bursts" is as descriptive and comprehensive as any.

Zacchaeus was not a "dud." The New England Primer's brief biography is familiar:

"Zacchaeus he,
Did climb a tree,
His Lord to see."

Nobody thinks of Zacchaeus apart from his perch. He was a little man, plus a tree. What he lacked in inches he made up in initiative. He was a man alert to his times and to his opportunities. A "dud" would have sat still by his money bags, content to hear from his neighbors the story of the passage out of Jericho of the great Teacher. But this tax collectar was of another sort. He belonged to the breed represented by the Spartan mother who said, when her son complained that his sword was too short, "add a step to it." Zacchaeus added a tree's height to his own short stature.

There are few books written about "duds," else we should know the tragic stories of the men and women who stay stolidly at home when opportunity draws near. They are the kind who never go out to hear a new preacher or lecturer of musician, who have no time for political meetings; who seldom bother about new books. They are the "duds" of life.

The Original "Man Up a Tree."

The news of the Coming One ran before Him all through the city, summoning everybody out to line the main street. Among the people was this rich tax-collector, Zacchaeus, despised and feared of all the Jews in town. He was handicapped for sight-seeing by shortness of stature. If Zacchaeus had been as little by inside measurement as he was physically he could never have seen Jesus. The crowd keep hosts of the small from attaining their coveted desires. But not this little publican. He was not the sort of man whom difficulties could deter.

It was not dignified, of course—that was a bad day for Mrs. Grundy—but while the crowd stared, the rich publican gathered the tail of his robe in his hand and scooted ahead of the multitude and, like a small boy, though with less agility, he shinned up a friendly sycamore. "Obstacles" Zacchaeus reasoned, though he had never heard the proverb, "are things to be overcome." Well for the young person possesed of the Zacchaeus spirit.

Jesus saw the man in the tree, of course; He never fails to recognize and special effort to reach Him. What must have been the publican's amazement (even though he was of a calling not given to embarrassment) when the head of the procesison halted under his tree, and Jesus greeted him with "Zacchaeus, make haste and come down, for today I must abide at thy house."

The Critics Appear.

More quickly than he had gone up, Zacchaeus hastened down the tree, with unspeakable joyfulness. He who had been used to being spurned by the religious people of Jericho was the recipient of the special favor of this great Rabbi!

Tongues began to wag, as might be expected. This last act of Jesus was more unconventional than any that had gone before that day. The critics did not approve Christ's choice of a host, for Zacchaeus was a sinner and a social and religious outcast. Little the Master cared. He saw only that this man was a sincere seeker after Him; and his opinion was justified by the publican's prompt declaration that he would give half his goods to the poor, and that if he had wrongfully exacted aught of any man, he would restore it fourfold. When a man gets right with God he wants to get right with his fellowmen. That is why the government has a "conscience fund" that is ever being added to.

The great need and desire of Zacchaeus' heart was met by Jesus in the assurance of salvation. And to the carping critics the Lord made answer by repeating the keynote of his message—still the Good News of all men—"The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

BATTERED WOODEN RAILING MAY HAVE ITS DAY IN COURT

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—From a rusty loft was dragged a section of battered wooden railing which may become a major bit of evidence in a patent suit involving the cafeteria business throughout the country.

Allen B. Fosberg, executive president of the Restaurant Owners association, today was en route to Denver, Colo., to confront C. Ernest Rorrer and Albert Mittert, who control what is known as the Weston patent for cafeteria equipment, with the rail's existence. It was first used, he said, some 20 years ago in an Evanston cafeteria, founded by a group of women to cater to university students and others. Their cafeteria was reputed to be the first in the United States.

A suit in federal court at Birmingham, Ala., in which the Britling company, lessee under the Weston patent, was awarded damages from the Piccadil Cafeterias on the ground of patent infringement, inspired the hunt by restaurant men to find where the cafeteria started. Fosberg recalled the old Evanston cafeteria and recovered the wooden rail in the home of its first manager.

STATE PRORATION ORDER ISSUED BY RAIL COMMISSION

LIMITS OUTPUT ALL TEXAS FIELDS TO 680,238 BARRELS FOR SIXTY DAYS

AUSTIN, Nov. 25. —(AP)— The state railroad commission today issued an order placing the state oil industry under a production curtailment program for the next sixty days, on the basis of an allowable production of 680,238 barrels.

Common purchasers were authorized in the order to make such agreements among themselves as would allow them to exchange oil, exchange connections or otherwise make plans to ratably take oil from all producers.

The common carriers had feared to make such agreements fearing the anti-combination laws would be invoked against them. Failure to cooperate had resulted in discriminations which caused North Texas producers unable to get a pipe line outlet to throw their crude on the market. The order becomes effective November 27.

Allotments for the various districts were:

Panhandle, 64,616 barrels; North Central Texas, 52,395; North Young county (sub-district) 4,850; West Central, 24,142; West Texas, 251,377; East Texas, 38,355; Southwest Texas, 84,503; Gulf Coast, 160,000.

Special Provision for Van

A special provision was made for the Van field, new flush production east of Dallas. The order gave notice of a hearing, date to be set later, on this field, and made the order dealing with East Texas elastic so that production from the field, now set at 27,500 barrels, might be raised to 35,000 from December 15 to January 1; to 40,000 barrels from January 1 to January 15, to 45,000 barrels from January 15 to February 15, and 50,000 barrels after that date. This was to allow for a proposed extension of the Pure Oil company's facilities.

The order also provided that in the event the efforts of producers to obtain more markets for the Panhandle, North Central and West Central districts were successful, the allotments for those fields might be increased to meet the additional demand.

Interchange Permitted

Authority given common carriers to make agreements regarding interchanging of oil was in a section of the order serving notice that the common purchaser act, designed to prevent discrimination in oil takings by pipe line companies, would be enforced.

"In certain fields and districts of this state," the order said, "there are disproportionate withdrawals of oil taking place in localized areas, due to the fact that some properties are being produced under varying degrees of curtailment; that such disproportionate withdrawals or restrictions are resulting in the dissipation of gas energy, the actual physical waste of gas and the rapid and undue encroachment of water, all with resulting reduction in the ultimate quantity of oil to be produced from the fields and the districts involved and in the actual physical loss and waste, for all useful purposes of that which cannot be recovered.

"Unless the restrictions be uniformly applied in a given pool or field, waste of gas and oil will necessarily result and will also result from the fact that certain producers who have no market for their products, will be compelled to store same and thus increase unnecessary fire hazards and increase losses through evaporation.

"It is essential to the prevention of waste that restriction upon production shall be uniformly applied within the various fields or districts and that necessary arrangements should be made by purchasers and transporters of oil, working in co-operation with the railroad commission with a view of assuring such fair and ratable takng."

Present allowable production in Texas is 750,000 barrels a day, but testimony at the hearings which preceded issuance of the order was to the effect that actual production was approximately 780,000 barrels.

AMOUNT OF LOOT SECURED IN BANK ROBBERY UNKNOWN

HUTCHINSON, Kas., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The amount of loot obtained by four or five robbers in the holdup of the American National Bank here yesterday remained in doubt today as officials said they were without clues to the identity of the gang which escaped in a motor car.

E. P. Bradley, vice-president and cashier, who at first estimated the loss at $25,000, refused to state the exact amount taken. From other sources it was understood the loot may be considerably above Bradley's estimate.

Sheriff Fay Brown characterized the robbery as one of the most carefully planned and executed raids ever staged in Kansas.

Three men injured by the robbers for slowness in complying with their demands were not seriously hurt.

A safety spring in the vault was released by Charles Gray, teller, as 14 persons were herded inside, and this prevented it from locking. The bank was the only one in the city not equipped with an alarm system.

SENATOR ROBINSON OPPOSED TO EXTRA SESSION CONGRESS

DEMOCRATIC LEADER REITERATES HIS STAND IN FAVOR PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Desire to avoid an extra session of congress was voiced today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, upon his return to the capital.

Reiterating his stand for national prohibition, the Democratic leader predicted that the Democrats would not declare themselves for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment in the 1932 platform. He expressed the opinion also that the prohibition amendment would not be repealed in the early future.

Senator Robinson issued a statement which he said was in substance that which he wrote to President Hoover recently regarding an extra session of the new congress.

The statement follows in full:

"It seems to me that discussion now of the question whether an extraordinary session of the congress will be necessary following the fourth of March is premature.

"From my standpoint it is desirable to avoid it if practicable.

"The congress was in extraordinary session throughout the spring and summer of 1929. We dealt principally with the agriculture problem and with the tariff in its relation to farm relief.

"The Hawley-Smoot act gave impetus to economic depression. It did more harm than good.

"The farm marketing act has not been effective to reverse the downward tendency of agriculture.

Conditions Grow Worse.

"Conditions have been steadily growing worse until in many parts of the country economic and business distress is appalling.

"In my judgment it is imperative that measures of an emergency character be acted upon as speedily as possible.

"While no doubt other important subjects will also require attention by the congress, I regard it as indispensable to the public welfare that all co-operate in the passage of measures for relief in the drought stricken areas.

"The unemployment situation is acute and demands consideration.

"It is quite doubtful whether the intense agitation of partisan differences, which cannot be reconciled, will be helpful while both houses of the congress are evenly divided and the executive is in control of the Republicans.

"Of one thing I am certain, it is no part of my duty to filibuster against appropriaiton bills, and I have no intention of doing so.

Not Supporting Republican Record

"Readiness to co-operate in the passage of appropriation bills and emergency measures in no sense implies support on my part of the policies of the Republican party or approval of its record.

"To determine now that an extra session is unavoidable inevitably will result in postponement of action on measures and subjects which ought to be disposed of during the regular session."

Aside from his prepared statement, Robinson expressed surprise his letter to the White House had not been made public.

"While I shall respect the initiative usually recognized as belonging to the White House to make public messages transmitted or received by the president," he said, "there is nothing in the subject matter of this correspondence which in my opinion calls for confidential treatment."

Robinson added that his statement today was substantially corroborative" of his message to the president.

The Democratic leader did not specify what legislation he felt should be disposed of during the regular session outside of emergency and appropriation bills.

L. S. Cooper is reported improving after being confined to his home for several days.

DEFINITE CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST DETROIT OFFICERS

SIXTEEN ALLEGED BOOTLEGGERS ALSO FACE CONSPIRACY CHARGES

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Definite charges have been placed against seven suspended officers and 16 alleged bootleggers and eight of them arraigned on charges of bribery and conspiracy to violate the tariff act in the customs border patrol scandal here.

Thirty other officers are said to have been involved in the investigation, which was being continued today, although customs officials insisted that only six or seven of the patrolmen will finally be brought to trial. All of them, they said, were assigned to the down river districts in the vicinity of Ecorse, a hot-bed of smuggling activities since the Detroit river first became a prohibition battle front.

Five officers and three alleged bootleggers pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday before U. S. Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd.

Oscar Vicstrom, suspended border patrol sergeant, was released under $5,000 bond. Arthur Ford, Gordon Marston and Orie Hazen, suspended patrolmen, furnished $1,000 bond each. Elmer J. Erskine, also a suspended patrolman, is held in default of $1,000 bond.

Charles Evans and Roy Malicki, alleged bootleggers, supplied $10,000 bond each. Harry Gleason was unable to furnish bond. Thirteen other unnamed bootleggers are sought on charges of bribery and conspiracy.

William H. Redford and Charles Basal, patrolmen, were not arraigned, although they were reported to hae been involved by the investigation.

CENSORSHIP LIFTED FROM NEWSPAPERS CUBA ON THURSDAY

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Newspaper censorship was lifted, nominally at least, by President Machado today. He announced that while he was removing the censors from their offices the papers would have to stick to the truth.

El Pais, one of the papers to suspend publication two weeks ago, rather than submit to the censorship announced it would publish today. El Mondo and Diario De La Marina have not determined upon a date for resumption.

The censorship was invoked when disorders in the capital led to suspension of constitutional guarantees and make martial law effective.

The government took special precautions to maintain order today, which is the anniversary of execution of eight Cuban students by the Spanish in 1871. The day has a national significance among students evn in normal times and it was thought this year it might be made a prtext for disorders.

The commerce schol at Santa Clara was closed and a number of students arrested. One of these was Luis Antonio Del Castillo, member if a prominent family in Ranchuelo, against whom a charge of sedition was lodged.

HOOVERS QUIETLY PASS DAY AT HOME WITH FEW GUESTS; SADDENED BY SON'S ABSENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Like most other Americans President Hoover was at home today to Mr. Turkey, the national hero.

A quiet family party, with just a few friends, was the chief Thanksgiving observance at the White House. So also the members of the cabinet devoted themselves to children, grandchildren, nephews and nieces, some in Washington, some at the children's homes elsewhere.

A thanksgiving service at the Central Presbyterian church in mid-morning also drew the president, accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and their son Allan, who was home for the holiday. Woodrow Wilson attended this church; laid its cornerstone in 1913. Mr. Hoover today was to lay the cornerstone for a new Sunday school bulding there.

Only house guests of the Hoover's were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard of New York, and their debutante daughter, Peggy, family friends of long standing. They alone shared the family dinner.

One of the traditions' features of Thanksgiving dinner at the Hoover home, as old acquaintances tell it, is a "fruits-of-the-harvest" centerpiece — golden pumpkin, squash, ears of corn red and white, purple-shiny eggplant, red tomatoes, green avocado pears and chestnut burrs, as well as the more customary apples, oranges and grapes.

One item on the program of the Hoover day in which the president himself will not take part is the annual navy relief ball at which Mrs. Hoover, accompanied by her son, will put in an appearance. Herbert Hoover, Jr., his wife and children are not at the White House this Thanksgiving. That for the president is the only sad note of the day.

TWO PLANES CRASH WHILE ON SEARCH MISSING FLIER

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Two planes en route to join the search for the missing Canadian flier, Capt. E. J. A. Burke, and his two companions, crashed at Telegraph Creek, B. C., yesterday. The pilots escaped injury.

A machine piloted by Harry Blunt crashed into a tree and was demolished when the flier attempted a quick landing because of motor trouble. The other plane, piloted by W. J. Barrows, struck a soft spot in the ice and was saved from submersion by its wings.

Meanwhile, Pilot E. L. Wasson arranged to make a second flight to the Burke plane which he sighted Monday in the headwaters of the Liard river. Unfavorable weather has prevented his return to the scene.

Burke was lost Oct. 11 while returning from a prospecting flight.

From Ketchikan, Alaska, and Prince Rupert, B. C., two United tates navy planes and two Canadian machines planned to continue the search for Pilot Robin Renahan and two companions, lost Oct. 28 while flying to aid in the Burke search.

Walters was sentenced Nov. 19 for holding up a gasoline station last Jan. 11.

Indian University To Seek Oil On Its 200-Acre Campus

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Bacone Indian univeristy, which has received several large donations in the past from oil wealthy Indians, now is to seek oil on its own land. It was announced today that a deep test would be put down at once on the school's 200 acre campus north east of the city.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills is head of the syndicate which blocked the acreage. J. P. Flannigan is drilling contractor.

An old well on the next section north encountered five oil sands in 1,800 feet, but none of them in paying quantities. Geologists have expressed the opinion, however, that the top formation of Bald jhl: upon which the university stands, looks promising.

RESTAURANT OWNER TO SHARE MILLION DOLLARS ESTATE

NEW, YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Louis A. Vargas is bound for Venezuela today to claim his share in a fortune estimated at $1,000,000 and to forget three and one-half years in prison for a crime he did not commit.

Vargas, a Chicago restaurateur, sailed yesterday to settle his father's estate, shared by him and three other children. Eighteen months ago he was paroled from Joliet, Ill., prison, and Governor Louis Emerson of Illinois recently granted him a pardon to restore his citizenship.

Entering the country 10 years ago from Switzerland, Vargas took employment as a waiter in Chicago. On Christmas eve, 1925, a friend held up a cabaret without his knowledge while he was standing outside and Vargas was charged with joint complicity. On advice of lawyers, he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to from one to 10 years in prison.

After his parole, Vargas married and founded a prosperous business, to take care of which Mrs. Vargas remained in Chicago.

Will Make Survey Of Mathis Dam

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The city council today authorized the employment of Robert Cummins and Henry Elrod of Houston to make a survey of the condition of the dam at Mathis which broke Sunday and to investigate with a view of determining the cause of the break.

Cummins constructed the port of Corpus Christi and the breakwater in front of the city. Elrod built the $1,250,000 dam as Cisco.

An investigation will not be possible until the waters subside further.

Freestone County P.T.A. Council Is Fostering Contest

TEAGUE, Nov. 27.—(Spl.)—The Freestone County P. T. A. Council is fostering a humane poster contest. This contest is to be conducted through the local association in co-operation with their school systems. This movement was begun in accordance with a program as outlined by the district; however, Freestone county is unique in being the only county known to be conducting this welfare program along lines as outlined by themselves.

A special set of eleven rules will be adhered to in the contest. Suitable prizes are to be given to the winners of first place.

Judge Orders Dress Suit to Be Impounded

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The dress suit Mrs. Alma McGill said her husband William donned and doffed in his office in secret before he saunters forth to night clubs will have to be provided with a new place to hang, by virtue of the judicial recognition taken of it by Judge John J. Sullivan.

The judge issued an injunction restraining McGill from disposing of it and ordered it impounded as evidence of Mrs. McGills separation suit.

Junior Rockefeller Says U. S. Has Many Reasons Be Thankful

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Mrs. Rockefeller returned from Europe on the Homeric today just in time to maintain the family tradition of always eating Thanksgiving dinner with his father.

"I do not think that we ever had more to be grateful for as a nation than today," he told reporters. "There were never more difficult problems than today, yet we will meet them and they will be solved ultimately."

Much Health Work Being Done Among Freestone Children

TEAGUE, Nov. 27.—(Spl.)—Under the supervision of county health nurse Miss Beatrice Lott, and working with the help of the P. T. A.'s of the various schools, much vital health work has been accomplished over the county.

Klrven schools have given the toxoid to 131 children, including both the Shanks and Burleson school districts. Donie has given the toxoid for the prevention of diphtheria to about 200 pupils. The Frestone school has administered the toxoid to about 80 children, and Dew school to about 90.

There have been approximately 1,000 children immunized from diphtheria in Freestone county, when the work has been completed which is probably a record in the State.

Recently in the negro schools of Avant and Salem 151 school children were vaccinated by the county health officer for smallpox.

Miss Lott, county health nurse, plans to begin the school inspections as soon as she has concluded the work in the immunizing programs for the various schools and communities.

CORSICANA, TEX., NOV. 28, 1930.

IT'S AN ISSUE NOW.

If his predecessor proved embarassing to his party and party's chief, Chairman Fess, of the Republican party, is in the process of incubation as a still greater embarrassment. Not a few Republican leaders have recently publicly expressed the thought that his chairmanship should be highly "temporary."

Chairman Fess' sins are of commission, rather than of omission. He has proved loyal to his chief and party in a well-meaning albeit bungling, fashion and has been quick at the trigger in thinking up alibis for Republican setbacks. But his official utterances and manifestoes have lacked political tact.

In face of recent Republican defeats in a number of states that have been attributed directly to the party's steadfast espousal of the dry side of the prohibition argument, he insists on advertising the aridity of his party's platform and chief and proclaiming his belief that a dry plank in 1932 is essential to Republican victory. This must prove highly annoying to Mr. Hoover, who has religiously kept sealed this Pandora's box.

Simeon's harmony talk runs along the lines of a threatened dry revolt from the G. O. P. ticket in 1932 if the party deviates one iota from the straight and narrow path or prohibition. That seems to be placing full responsibility for party harmony on one side, a bit of political strategy which not even the ultra-partisan Fess will get away with.

But why this making an issue of prohibition? Before the recent election it was none other than Mr. Fess who said that prohibition is not an issue. Can it be that the Democratic party has converted him?

ARGUMENTS.

If there is one thing that human beings do and yet ridicule more than anything else it is argue. Everybody argues and everybody rebukes his fellowmen for arguing. It is just one of man's indiosyncrasies. The trend of argument in Corsicana is toward politics, religion, prohibition, international affairs, municipal and civic matters and everything else on which there is a possibility of a difference in opinion. A village wit has gone so far as to accuse the American women of seeking the ballot so man could no longer monopolize the political arguments. Perhaps the husbands of voting women could provide the proof or disproof.

It has been frequently noted that actions and words agree in numbers, that is the more popular the trait the greater abundance of words expressing that trait. Application of the theory to the case in point brings to mind such synonyms of argument and argue as: dispute, debate, evince, expostulate, remonstrate, controvert, discuss, contention, wrangle, altercation, quarrel, contest, oppose, squabble, bicker, brawl, cavil, gainsay, impugn and so almost endlessly with the aid of a dictionary or book of synonyms.

Every age and generation has had its pet argument. In past ages have been the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy, religious arguments which had to be settled by force of arms, the argument of who discovered America and also whether the earthly remains of Columbus rest in Santa Domingo or Spain.

If some people loved their neighbors as they did themselves, this world would be a glorious place to live in.

JUST FOLKS

THANKSGIVING 1930

For what this year must we give thanks?
For lesser fortunes in the banks?
For speculations gone astray?
For debts too great for us to pay?
For all the misery and woe
Which countless people round us know?
The losses we have had to bear
Would make a mockery of prayer!

If worshipers of chance are we
Our god has served us shabbily.
If all we care for 'neath the sky
Is buying now and selling high
And mounting profits in the banks
The god of chance deserves no thanks.
If money's all we live to gain
'Twere better silent to remain.

But if we love the God of men
Let us return to Him again
With grateful hearts that high and low
His boundless blessing still may know;
That sun and sky and stream and field
Their charm unchanged to mortals yield;
That it is given us to possess
A surer grasp on happiness.

Dear Lord above, so let us pray.
We who have sometimes lost the way
Or turned aside for selfish gain
Discovering only hurt and pain,
See now beyond the cloud and midst
That love and friendship still exist;
That riches of the soul outlast
The summer's drought or winter's blast.

Our grateful thanks today we give
That we in fellowship may live;
Have strength our every task to meet,
And though 'tis humbler fare we eat
Grateful are we for love that stays
Still smiling through these stormy days,
And grateful for those lasting joys,
Chance neither fashions nor destroys.

DOUBLING ROAD FUNDS

It is said that a bill will be introduced in the next session of congress to double the existing appropriation for road work. If the bill passes, $350,000,000 will be available for federal aid.

The unemployment situation and the mid-western drought have stimulated the good roads movement. The construction of roads gives employment to thousands of farmers and others who at present have little or no source of livelihood, at the same time providing the nation with an invaluable asset. Long after the present "depression year" is forgotten the roads will remain, paying dividends in the form of fast, year-round transportation, increased tourist travel, business for small town merchants and lower motor vehicle operating costs.

The United States is fairly well supplied with main highways but in large agricultural areas roads are almost the same as in horse-and-wagon days. Mud, slush and snow are still barriers between the farmer and the outside world.

Agricultural areas are entitled to good roads. States should follow the lead of the federal government and encourage by every practical method the construction of year-round, farm-to-market roads.

OIL.

Vast areas of the United States are bare of forests and the country's timber resources are not sufficient to meet domestic demands because of decades during the period of greatest development hills and valleys once heavily clothed with trees were wantonly stripped in the foolish belief that the timber supply was inexhaustible.

Is history to be repeated by our oil esources? The producing companies are bringing the precious fluid to the surface through 328,200 wells with a haste and waste unjustified by the demand, great as it is.

Last year the United States for the first time passed the billion barrel mark in oil production—1,007,323,000 barrels. That is more than double the output of the rest of the world, twelve per cent above our own production in 1928, and considerably more than the country needed after exporting 163,000,000 barrels.

Conservation is needed if we, the world's largest consumers of oil, are not to find ourselves wholly dependent upon foreign oil in a comparatively short time. That conservation must come through regulation of drilling and production and less wasteful refining methods. The price which we may ultimately have to pay for imported oil deserves consideration.

FOOD FOR THANKSGIVING

DESTRUCTIVE COMPETITION..

The "big stick" has lost its potency as a rabble-rouser.

Less than a generation ago it was waved threateningly and effectively against big business. It busted a few trusts, but served better as a hobby-horse upon which a few of its wielders rode into office.

In at least two states in the recent election demagogues used it as a witch's stick upon which to ride into office. They found the voters skeptical, unafraid of the old Rooseveltian bugaboos and goblins.

When the elder Roosevelt was busting trusts the public feared them. In the popular mind big business was an octopus, stifling business freedom and initiative, heralding enslavement of the masses by monopoly.

The old dread is gone. Industrial combination, leading to greater efficiency, less duplication of effort, better service, is a part of American business, soundly entrenched. The fact was recently recognized by President Hoover when he observed that competition can be as destructive as monopoly.

The railroad and bituminous coal industries are examples that strike home. Railroad mergers are the salvation of that gigantic and fundamental industry. The bituminous industry, with 7,000 mines owned by 6,000 operators, is on the brink of ruin due to destructive competition in the form of price cuts, wage cuts, unbridled production and instability.

DISAPPEARING FURS.

In spite of the protection that has been given game and the efforts of organized sportsmen to perpetuate the art of Nimrod the tendency of the United States is towards game farms and fur plantations. Hunting, once a business for many Americans, is now but a sport, and it is feared that it will eventually disappear even as a sport.

Once there was good hunting for everyone; now there is fair hunting at the best for some and no hunting at all for many. And with the exception of relatively small wilderness areas, there would be hunting for none but for the conservation and propagation which has been in progress in a number of states for several years. Protection was not enough because it did not come until little wild life was left to protect.

It is a fact that the public is more concerned with conserving hunting as a sport than it is in conserving game for food when wild life was the source of much of the nation's food supply. The public never worries until it is too late.

The United States, once one of the world's principal exporters of furs, now imports twice as much as it produces. And a large part of the country's fur output comes from "farms."

Still, it isn't a big heart that keeps America from hating other nations. It's a full stomach.

ROOSEVELT.

Presidential booms that bloom in the fall are likely to die in the spring, so the re-election of Governor Roosevelt in New York by a record plurality for that state doesn't give him, ipso-facto, the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932. It does, however, keep him in the running and far to the fore.

There seems to be no ready explanation for his great victory. He was not supposed to have the vote-getting powers of his predecessor, Alfred E. Smith, yet his plurality is nearly double the largest former Governor Smith ever polled. He was never as popular with Tammany as his friend Al., but Roosevelt got a larger vote in New York City than Smith's highest vote there.

The Roosevelt vote cannot be attributed to a Democratic landslide in New York since the Republican strongholds elected Republicans to congress and the legislature while giving Roosevelt majorities. Both parties were wet and the dry independent candidate didn't poll a large vote.

Unless the Tammany scandals are handled by Governor Roosevelt to his own credit, logical conclusion at the Democratic national convention in 1932 will be that he has remarkable vote-getting powers, a quality which a Democratic presidential nominee must have above all others.

However, let not the other Democratic aspirants be disconsolate. Much water will pour over the dam before June of 1932.

PROSPEROUS AMUSEMENTS.

This may be an "off year" for the G. O. P. and certain key industries, but not so for the amusement field. Industries devoted to providing recreation and entertainment for the public are doing a normal business with normal increases in profits.

Motion picture theaters have hardly felt the effects of the depression. Five huge amusement corporations report profits in excess of those for corresponding months in 1929. In that group is one which predicts record profits for the year.

The development of miniature golf would have been phenomenal under peak prosperity conditions. Baseball did not suffer and football is filling the stadiums at higher prices. This is also true of the turf, speedway and links. Not even the circus and traveling carnival suffered.

This again proves that unemployment aids rather than injures the amusement business. The jobless will spend their dwindling savings in the amusements that obliviate their troubles and speed the lagging hours.

Rather than condemn these for their improvidence, approve their acts. They are maintaining normal activity in an industry so large that it has a stabilizing influence on industry in general. They are providing employment for hundreds of thousands, who, in turn, will soon be giving them work.

Christian nations are the ones that send missionaries to save the undeveloped people they have robbed.

Proof that the world is growing better lies in the fact that its conscience hurts a lot more.

When feminine control is complete, doubtless the husband of a failure will take in washing.

Life is much like a motor. The faster you drive a car, the less mileage you get per gallon.

MEXICAN BANDIT LEADER IS KILLED ATTEMPTING ESCAPE

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 25.—(AP)—"Shot and killed while attempting to escape" was written today on the records of the department of justice after the name of Baldomero Navarro, who acknowledged no mans' law, and whose deftness with two guns won him the title of "El Maestro' of Mexican banditry.

Until a week ago Navarro and a few bold comapnions for 17 years roamed the mountains around Cuernavaca, descending to the highway from Mexico City occasionally for a hold-up which astonished with its daring. Once, it is believed, they nearly succeeded in kidnapping Ambassador Morrow as he drove to his country home in the Morelos capital.

Last week federal troops, who pursued him in vain for years, captured and executed three of his men. There followed a running fight with Navarro across Mesa and through Arroya, until a shot clipped his horse from under him and he was captured.

He was brought to Mexico City and questioned by federal authorities. A long series of crimes with the government connected him ranged from highway banditry to the murder of Abraham Rosenthal, American who was captured on the Cuernavaca road and put to death three years ago when ransom arrangements fell through.

Friday the federal authorities state of Morelos in which most of his offenses were committed, and he was started back to Cuernavaca to stand trial and face almost certain execution. At Tres Marias, not far across the Morelos state line he met death at the hands of his captors in a manner frequent for Mexican bandit leaders, "shot and killed while attempting to escape." None of the details was divulged.

Starts Out Early

"El Maestro" earned his nickname in 17 years roaming about Southern Mexico. In 1918, little more than a youth, he joined the Agrarian army of General Emiliano Zapata, who once held up the treasury in Mexico City, and in time he became a general himself, when changing politics in Mexico gave Zapata's exploits the aspect of respectability. Navarro left the city for the open spaces to take up a leadership of his own.

He was seen frequently thereafter, a smiling, sordonic figure, in felt hat and long pronged silver Spanish spurs. He was scrupluously polite to victims, few of whom made the mistake of crossing him when he would back them out of automobiles or down off their horses to strip them of valuables. He earned a considerable reputation for ability to extricate himself from any dilemma, and frequently narrowly escaped capture.

Some time before Ambassador Morroy left Mexico to attend the London naval conference Navarro's men sized a village through which the ambassador would have to return en route from Cuernavaca, where he had a country home, to the capital. Shortly before his automobile reached the village federal troops guarding the highway succeeded in driving the bandits out and clearing the road.

For a while after this the activity along the highway ceased but when it picked up again a few weeks ago the government determined to suppress it at all costs. Navarro's alleged companion of many exploits, Maximiliano Viguera, was captured and executed two years ago.

POSSE ORGANIZED SEARCH FOR SCHOOL TEACHER MISSING

FORT MORGAN, Colo., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A sheriff's posse was organized today to search the lonely prairie country of Northern Morgan county for Miss Enid Marriott, 28-year-old Wiggins, Colo., school teacher, missing since Nov. 16.

Clew after clew proving without substantiation, authorities were convicted today their original theory of kidnapping explained the womans' disappearance. They believe the teacher may have been slain.

Meanwhile, officers at Cheyenne, Wyo., were investigating a report that a woman resembling Miss Marriott registered at a hotel there last Monday with a man. Police said the couple's automobile was similar to the one in which the woman was believed to have disappeared.

Ranchers of Morgan county volunteered to aid the sheriff in the search for the teacher unless new clues are unocovered at once, the posse will begin a systematic search both on foot and on horseback, of the prairie, sand hills and gulleys in the vicinity of Wiggins.

Miss Marriott has not been seen since she alighted from a train at Wiggins a weeq ago last Sunday after spending the week-end in Denver. A man and a car were on the station platform of the eastern Colorado village when the train arirved. She is believed to have entered the car with the man and from that time has completely dropped from sight.

NEGRO METHODIST OPEN CONFERENCE IN CORSICANA

Wednesday, November 26, marked the opening of the 59th session of the West Texas Negro conference.

Bishop R. A. Carter of Chicago, who is a member of the inter-racial commission co-operating with the M. E. church, South, is president. For the second time the bishop comes to preside over Texas, which is a fertile field for colored Methodism.

The opening sermon was delivered by Rev. G. A. Simpson of Sherman, after which over 100 gathered around the altar and took the holy emblems.

Last night a splendid program of welcome was rendered. The high point of this session was the spirited welcome by Mrs. J. S. Callicut on behalf of the Missionary Society of the white Methodist church.

A very friendly relation exists between the colored Methodist church and the Methodist Church, South.

Clyde Dyke Baker, a noted spiritualist singer, is rendering charming music and hopes to get before the white people of this city before leaving.

This session closes Sunday with the reading of assignments by Bishop Carter.

A firm stand for prohibition is to be taken by this conference.

Bandits Remember Thanksgiving Day; Return Part Loot

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—(AP)—One of the two bandits who held up the Dixie Shoe Store in McKeesport last night almost forgot that today is Thanksgiving.

The bandits were about to leave with $105 they had removed from cash drawers and the safe, when one of them suddenly stopped at the door and addressed the manager and a clerk huddled in a corner.

"Say, tomorrow's Thanksgiving, ain't it?" he exclaimed.

The holdup victims gloomily admitted it was.

"Well then," he apologized, "this won't do, you boys will have to have something to celebrate with."

He handed them $20 and disappeared.

TWELVE KNOWN DEAD FROM CIRCUS TRAIN WRECK; MANY ANIMALS LOOSED BY FLAMES

MEXIO CITY, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Lions, bears, tigers and elephants, wild in a new-found freedom from circus cage and corral, roamed the Guanajuato mountains today as charro and hacienda owners banded to track them down and either kill or return them to captivity.

At Irapuato 18 members of the Beas circus, one of the largest in Mexico, lay in hospital beds, badly burned from fire which swept their train yesterday, killing at least 12 of their associates and loosing the menagerie. Many injured were not expected to live.

The fire occurred at Guadalupe state, near Irapuato, where the circus train was being switched. Some of the coaches were backed into tank cars filled with gasoline. The fluid, sprayed onto the wooden coaches, caught fire and in a few minutes the entire train was in flames.

Circus performers and employes clad in nightclothes, escaped from the coaches as best they could, only to meet a new peril, the maddened animals which were getting loose from their cages as the fire burned the cars about them.

Finally guns were procured and some of the more ferocious beasts were killed. The others fled.

A passenger train to Guadalajara, dispatches to Excelsior said, was stopped on the track nearby and some of the lions entered the coaches. Frightened passengers broke out windows of their berths to escape.

The elephants stampeded once they broke from their cars, and raged through the town cutting a swath of destruction.

The passenger train from Mexico City arrived at Guadalajara ten hours late today because of the delay at the scene of the circus train blaze.

Passengers aboard the train said they had seen the charred bodies of twelve persons removed from the debris of the train. Others were believed dead.

Chicago Man Well Supplied WithO'Coats

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—It was cold in Chicago yesterday, but even so Police Sergeants William Bergen and John Chanahan figured they had a right to be suscipious of Edward Scott when he sauntered out of a Loop hotel, garbed in two overcoats. All of which explains why they arrested him and then went to a flat where they said they found 25 overcoats which did not belong to Scott. Police said he implicated two other men.

Railroad Man Is Killed in Wreck

PITTSBURG, Nov. 27.—(AP)—S. A. Mayfield, 40, of Hughes Springs, was fatally injured yesterday when the railroad moto rcar on which he was riding was wrecked 12 miles east of here. He was roadmaster for the Louisiana and Texas railroad. Members of a freight train crew who found Mayfield beside the wrecked car said apparently it had struck a railroad spike left on the track.

PROMISED TURKEY DINNER FOR TOTS COST FATHER LIFE

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Fred Bernard, sign painter out of a regular job promised his wife and four children they would have a turkey dinner today, when he left home Tuesday night, regardless of their financial circumstances.

Two policemen shot and killed him, however, when they said he refused to halt at their commands, shouted after they saw him running with three turkeys taken from a butcher shop window. He was one of two men killed Tuesday night trying for a turkey dinner, but was not identified until yesterday.

Stephen Kanate, a butcher who remained in his shop last night to guard his stock of turkeys shot and killed Anthony Bobku,s 24, a tenant in the same building, when he mistook him, he said, for a burglar.

DAISETTA MAN KILLED.

BEAUMONT, Nov. 27. (AP)—Jack Beard, 40, was shot and killed yesterday at a store at Daisetta. L. H. Walker Daisetta merchant, surrendered and made $5,000 bond. An argument over an account was said by officers to have preceded the shooting.

WOMAN HANGS SELF

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Egbert Bentley, 30, wife of a farmer living near Era, 15 miles from here, was found hanging in a barn near her home yesterday when her husband returned from town. He told officers his wife had been in ill health.

Federal Agents Are No-Billed Wednesday

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 27.—(AP)—No-bills were returned by a grand jury here yesterday in the cases of two federal prohibition agents, W. N. Weaver and J. M. Quillan, who figured recently in a raid on a liquor still during which Sam Day, 19, Miller county youth, was shot and seriously wounded. Day was reported as still in serious condition but was expected to recover.

FLOOD SITUATION IN EUROPE STILL CAUSING WORRIES

PARIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Although the Seine in Paris was falling today, the upper Marne and its tributaries were rising rapidly, again flooding low-lying quarters of St. Dizier and Joinville.

Between Oiry and Ay the river formed an immense lake, with the villages of Reuil and Oeuilly cut off by the flood. The Aise also was rising, invading gardens, cellars and riverside houses. Most other French rivers were stationary or falling, notably the Meuse in the east and the Sarthe in the west.

In Holland some concern was felt that the dike which holds the Rhine at the point where it enters the Netherlands might not hold. An abnormal torrent has greatly weakened the barrier which, if breached, would allow inundation of a considerable area of farms and villages.

GRAND CHANCELLOR TEXAS PYTHIANS IS HEARD AT ROLL CALL

ELLIS P. HOUSE DESIRED HOME FOR AGED OF ORDER BE ERECTED AT ONCE

A challenge to extend its membership an to provide a home for its aged was thrown to Texas Pythianism by Ellis P. House, grand chancellor of the Grand Domain of Texas, at the annual roll-call meeting of the Corsicana Lodge No. 435 Knights of Pythias Monday evening.

A large number of knights and visitors attended the annual open meeting. W. V. Mowlam, chancellor commander, presided at the meeting, and Gabe Goldberg led the Knights in the singing of "America," followed by the invocation by C. G. Davidson.

The members and visitors then enjoyed a barbecued turkey dinner with all the essential trimmings prepared under the direction of Harry Butler. Music was furnished at intervals during the evening by the First Methodist Sunday school orchestra under the direction of W. O. Barlow.

Following the dinner, A. Weidmann made the annual appeal for Thanksgiving and Christmas funds for the children in the K. of P. Home at Weatherford Contributions totalled $56.64 and will probably be increased before the funds are sent in.

Program for the roll-call night was arranged by a committee composed of Ballard W. George, Gabe Goldberg, and August Wendorf.

Past Chancellof Commander Ballard George introduced the speaker of the evening by asserting that Ellis P. House of Dallas had studied and lived Pythianism for many years.

The grand chancellor regaled his audience for a few minutes in humorous fashion, lightly referring to a recent automobile accident which left several scars on his face.

"How and what are you doing for Pythianism?" demanded the speaker as he turned to the serious part of his address, asking in addition to whom the annual roll-call was addressed, and how the families of deceased Knights are faring.

"Who is calling," he asked, and declared that it is a time for men to leave their social and business cares and consider the responsibilities of a knight.

Should Forget Selfishness.

He declared that knights should forget selfishness and answer roll-call more frequently. Fraternalism confined to the walls of the local lodge is a mockery, the speaker averred, but it must extend out into the city and state and in all walks of life. He asserted that donations for the support of the orphans did not fulfill a man's duties, but he must practice fraternalism as stated in his obligations. He extended greetings from the grand lodge and since the last meetings of the grand lodge the order has shown a large increase in activity, he reported.

Speaking directly then to the members of the Corsicana lodge, he told them that they must correspond with other lodges and assist the order in every way possible, and that they must assume civic duties, and show the people that they are interested in other things than closed secrets of the order.

He pointed out as a fine field for Pythians the sponsoring of wholesome entertainment for the youth of today.

Real Field of Service.

Since the friendliness of chambers of commerce rarely extends beyond the front door, he asserted that this organization gave Knights a real field of service in which they might show the real meaning of friendship and hospitality.

The great story of friendship outside the Scriptures exists in the story of Damon and Pythias, but the same characters are in existence in every city. He asserted that the men of the United States who entered military service during the world war showed the ssame spirit as typified in the old story.

"Why should the order be sold to others?" he asked. He answered it by asserting that every time a man or youth was sent to the gallows or the electric chair the standard of youth is lowered that much. Youth must be shown that there is something to life besides the social features. He declared that the ay Scouts offered a great field for the teaching of the principles of the order.

Returning Soldiers Demoralized.

Friendliness and religion were the only entertainments that could beoffered the soldiers returning from France after the world war. The speaker declared that the French influence has become one of the greatest demoralizing agencies in the history of civilization, and that fraternalism must restore the world to a common sense basis and aid in curbing the wrong sense of pleasure that is prevalent.

He declared that a lodge could not reach its full growth until it included all men who loved and feared God, and that should include ministers, teachers, bankers and all professions and business. He declared that the order could be a real influence if the members would take the opportunities that are available. He urged them to support their football team, and to banquet the boys, and at the same time tell them of the ideals of the order.

There are no hard times in Texas, Mr. House asserted, pointing out that more than thirty million dollars have been poured into the coffers of the state during the past twelve months in the form of four cent tax on gasoline and that no town has not given its quota.

Must Put Work Behind Honors.

A man is a theif unless he puts work behind honors that are bestowed on him, the speaker declared, and asserted that he would work as hard as he could for the order. Finance has gone to the heads of the people, he asserted, and since they have money for the things of life that they want they should be sold on fraternalism. He pointed to the boys graduated from the State Home as prospective members, and also to boys in the high schools.

The country must depend upon the shoulders of the boys of today and fraternalism must teach them many things they should know in order to be the most useful citizens. Character and not money is the dynamo of power he declared.

He also urged the knights to do their duty at the hourt house, and not shirk jury service, but to accept it as a part of their duty and then homes, lives and property will be safe he said.

He called attention to the fact that the superintendent of the K. of P. Orphans home is a former inmate of the home, and also to the many calls that are received for entrance there.

Mr. House then challenged Texas Pythianism to provide a place for its aged dependent members, asserting that it could be built with the funds secured from new members.

He called attention to the "memory book" being constructed for "Uncle" Henry Miller, a Pythian with forty-two years service behind him, and urged the formation of a Pythian temple in Corsicana.

Judge Rufus Hardy, Dr. J. R. Dorbandt of Dallas, and J. S. Halley of the State Home made short talks at the conclusion of the meeting.

Work to be staged during the next month was announced and the knights urged to be present. A rising vote of thanks was extended to the arrangements committee, and keeper of records and seals authorized to send a roll-call message to Uncle Henry Miller.

A number of Kerens Pythians were present at the meeting along with representatives of several other fraternal orders.

The annual roll-call was held with a number of the members answering present.

PLANE WRECKAGE FOUND IN ALASKAN RIVER IS BELIEVED REVEAL FATE THREE AIRMEN

WHITE HORSE, Yukon Territory, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Wreckage of an airplane in the headwaters of the Liard river, was believed today to hold the secret of the fate of Captain E. J. A. Burke, Canadian flier, and two companions who were lost in that area October 11.

Weeks of search by airplane were climaxed yesterday when Pilot E. L. Wasson returned to White Horse and reported sighting the wreckage. A shortage of gasoline compelled him to return without landing. He arranged today to fly to a landing point 15 miles from the scene of the wreck and "mush" to the headwaters with Joe Walsh, a woodsman.

Wasson said the terrain at the headwaters of the Liard river was too rough to permit a landing. He believes a visit to the wreckage would reveal a message or other clues to the fate of Burke and his companions, Emil Kading and Robert Marten, prospectors.

The Burke party was lost while flying from the Liard river mining district to Atlin, B. C., after a prospecting trip. They were last sighted about 50 miles south of Liard post. Wasson said it appeared the plane was forced down. It was frozen in a very narrow part of the river, he said.

Meanwhile, on the coast of Northern British Columbia, two United States navy planes and two Canadian planes continued search for Pilot Robin Renahan and two companions, lost October 28 while flying north to aid in the search for Burke. Adverse weather held the four planes to the ground yesterday and prevented the coast guard cutter Cygan, at Behm canal harbor, from continuing the search.

Two Pacific International Airways machine, flying from Smither, B. C., en route for Atlin via Telegraph creek, were unreported. They left Smithers Saturday. Communication lines out of Telegraph creek were down because of storms and it was not known whether they arrived.

WALLACE GIVEN JOB AS SECRETARY FOR HIGHWAY BOARD

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Adrian Pool, former member of the legislature from El Paso, was appointed to the board of control today by Governor Dan Moody. Pool fills a vacancy left by the expiration of the term of R. B. Walthall. The appointment was made effective today.

The governor also announced the appointment of former Representative John Wallace of Teague as secretary to the state highway commission. It was understood that agreement had been made that Wallace would be appointed to the board of control on the expiration of the term of R. I. Tennant.

By shifting the terms of members, the governor appointed Claude D. Teer, now chairman of the board, to succeed Walthall, giving Teer a five year term, and named Pool to succeed Teer, giving Pool a three year term.

Walthall's term expired nearly a year ago, but he has held office pending appointment of his successor. He was appointed by Gov. Pat M. Neff. Tennant was appointed by Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson. His term expires in 1932.

The new member is a native Texan, born in Milam county 54 years ago. He obtained his higher education at the University of Texas, working his way for four of the six years he attended that institution.

Is Road Builder.

Pool was successively city judge and county judge at El Paso before his election to the legislature 12 years ago. He claims credit for construction of El Paso's courthouse, which he calls the finest west of the Mississippi; Liberty Hall at El Paso; the first concrete road ever built in Texas, a 15 mile stretch from Anthony to the Santa Fe tracks; and the Fort Worth-El Paso stretch of the first cross-state highway, Texarkana to El Paso. He worked for the latter project 15 years before all contracts for the construction were finally let two years ago.

Pool also was one of the first sponsors of a state highway bond issue, that having been one of the first things he suggested when he became a member of the legislature. He introduced a bill which passed both houses of the legislature, for such an issue, but it was voted down when submitted to the people. El Paso county being the only county in the state in which the bond issue carried.

FILLERS LEAVES FOR HOUSTON STATE TEACHERS MEETING

H. D. Fillers, Corsicana public school superintendent and president of the Texas State Teachers, left Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, for Houston, where he will preside at the annual convention of Texas teachers there, Nov. 27-29. Corsicana will be well represented at the convention with a large number of teachers being present. One Corsicana teacher, L. P. Forsythe, will be one of the speakers in the trades and industrial division of the section meetings, and five members of the local high school band have been selected to participate in the All-Texas high school band, which will give musical programs at several of the general sessions.

When President Fillers goes out of office, he will present the incoming president with the associations official gavel, which is fifteen years old, and has an interesting history. It was presented to the association in 1915 by L. V. LaTaste, of Dallas. The gavel is made from an oak tree from the top of Lookout mountain, Tennessee, where the "Battle in the Clouds," was fought, Nov. 24, 1863, during the Civil war. A bullet which was fired into the tree is embedded in the head of the gavel, never having been removed from its original resting place.

Aside from delivering the presidents' address Thursday night, Mr. Fillers will be principal speaker at the Houston Kiwanis Club, Wednesday at noon, choosing as his subject, "The New School and Potential Business." He will also speak at the Columbia Club's banquet, in the Texas hotel, Thursday night; deliver the welcome address at the music section meeting, Friday morning; speak to the Houston Principals' association; and give the official opening address o fexhibits Thursday morning. Mr. Fillers will return to Corsicana Saturday afternoon.

Among the Corsicana public school teachers who will attend the Houston convention are: J. A. Pierce, O. F. Allen, W. H. Norwood, Miss Hortense Devant, Miss Lena Mae McClure, Miss Gladys Boren, Miss Christine Brandstetter, Miss Margaret Pannill, Mrs. Alice Holloman, Mrs. Pearl Averyt, Miss Aleen Carraway, L. P. Forsythe, S. H. Vaughter, Miss Glynn Mitchell, Miss Elizabeth Blackshear, Miss Pauline Lewis, Miss Laura Moore, O. P. Douglas, T. L. Jefferies, and Mrs. Susie Riley Cade.

These teachers will leave Thursday and Friday. The five members of the high school band who left Tuesday afternoon were, Douglas Ferrell, Lod Allison, Garner Clark, Billy Levine and Herbert Hill.

J. A. Bell and W. C. Vernon of Dawson were Corsicana visitors Tuesday.

John Robinson of the Barry community was a visitor in the city Tuesday afternoon.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY BURNED WHEN HOME DESTROYED MONDAY

Fire originating in the attic of the home of Dr. C. F. Bryan in Exall Heights completely destroyed the house and contents about 4 o'clock Monday morning, and Mrs. Bryan received serious burns. Loss was estimated in excess of $4,000.

The family was awakened by the roof of the house falling in and barely had time to escape. It is believed that Mrs. Bryan was injured when she attempted to return to house after some clothing. She is being cared for at the home of Mrs. Jess Speed.

BIGGER AND BETTER

THE NEW CHEVROLET SIX

Strikingly beautiful, fleet and smart —a masterpiece of Fisher styling

CHEVROLET

In the entire field of modern coachcraft no symbol has come to mean more to the buyer of a motor car than Body by Fisher. And never has Fisher's superiority been more strikingly exemplified than in the beautiful new bodies of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six!

Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

Working with the added advantage of a lengthened wheelbase, Fisher designers have been able to achieve in the new Chevrolet a degree of smartness, comfort and impressiveness hitherto considered exclusive to cars far higher in price.

Inside and out, you will discover scores of refinements that stamp this car as a masterpiece of modern coachwork. Radiator, headlamps and tie-bar have been artistically grouped to create an unusually attractive and distinctive ensemble. Mouldings sweep back from the graceful new radiator in an unbroken line to blend with the smart new body contours. And new colors, in carefully devised combinations, lend a new individuality.

Interiors, too, are exceptional in every way. The new mohair and broadcloth upholstery is tailored with exceptional smartness. Seats are wider and deeper and more luxuriously cushioned. A deeper windshield and wider windows give better vision for both driver and passengers. And beautiful new hardware, of modern design, lends a final note of charm.

The greater quality and beauty of the new Chevrolet-Fisher bodies have a counterpart in the many improvements which have been provided in the chassis of this Bigger and Better Six. Among these improvements are a longer, deeper, stronger frame; easier steering; a more durable clutch; a quieter, smoother-shifting transmission; and engine refinements which make the new Chevrolet a car you will be happy to drive—as well as proud to own.

The Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six is now on display in our showrooms. See it today—drive it—and learn for yourself that it is the Great American Value!

Bilious, Dizzy, Drowsy Feeling

"WHEN I was a child, if I did not feel well, or if I had a cold, my mother gave me Black-Draught," says Mrs. Orpha Hill, of Wofford, Ky. "When I was married, it became a family medicine in my own home, as it was in my mother's.

"I take it for headache and especially for constipation. When I get bilious, my skin gets yellow and I have a very bad taste in my mouth, and a drowsy feeling all during the day. My eyes burn and I get dizzy, or my head is 'swimming.' When I take Black-Draught, it seems to drive the impurities out of my system and I feel fine. I am seldom without this reliable remedy."

SERIOUS TROUBLE CONFRONTING NEW PERUVIAN CHIEFS

SEVERAL MEN REPORTED KILLED IN CONSTANT FIGHTING RECENTLY

ARCIE, Chile, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Peruvian provisional government, headed by Lieutenant Colonel Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, who was said in private messages from Lima today to be in serious difficulties.

Messages said there was constant fighting in the streets of the capital. Gunfire in several parts of the city also was reported.

The advices said several persons had been executed by the government, which was holding its own with difficulty. Strict censorship was in effect.

Lieutenant Colonel Sanchez Cerro, known in Peru as the "hero of Arequipa," where he began the revolution which unseated former President Augusto B. Legula last August, assumed the provisional presidency shortly after success of the movement.

Despite a censorship there have been recent reports that his administration was not faring well, and about two weks ago there was a widespread anti-foreign movement in which at least two Americans and a number of others were killed. A large communist element is said to be involved in the disorders.

Reports Confirmed.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Dispatches to La Nacion from Santiago De Chile state that private information has confirmed reports that a serious situation exists there and that the Sanchez Cerro government is adopting extreme measures to maintain order. Details are lacking.

RESTORATION WORK STARTED IN QUAKE DISTRICT OF JAPAN

THOUSANDS HOMELESS, 253 DEAD AND 345 INJURED IN LATEST TREMOR

TOKYO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Thousands of homeless on the Izu peninsula, the northern part of which was struck by an earthquake yesterday, turned to the task of restoration today.

Awakening to a bright, warm morning after a night of terror, the homeless attacked the work of rebuilding dwellings, shops and farmhouses with the aid of hundreds of soldiers and firemen from cities adjacent to the stricken area.

For many this was the second time within seven years they have gazed at ruin and desolation left by an earthquake. In September, 1923, nearly 100,000 were killed.

Virtually complete reports on the property damage in yesterday's earthquake indicated that while the material losses had been heavy they had been confined largely to rural communities and hot springs resorts, sparing the larger centers of population.

The effect of the quake on Japan's industrial and commercial welfare thus is expected to be small.

The Shizuoka prefectural government announced there had been 253 deaths and 345 persons injured. Houses destroyed were listed as numbering 2256 and damaged wdellings totalled 5562.

Besides the damage to private property, railways, highways, communication systems and power plants suffered heavily. The total damage probably will approach $50,000,000 but authorities refused to make any estimate.

Earth tremors continued in the northern part of Izu peninsula. Theseismograph at Mishima recorded shocks between 4:03 a. m., Wednesday when the big quake began, and 8:30 a. m., today.

That further after shocks must be expected in the stricken area was the announcement of Dr. Kunitomi, earthquake authority to Tokyo central observatory. He said the shock was due to earth faults produced by the great quake of 1923 and not to volcanic action.

UTAH UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL PLAYERS LEAD IN SELECTION

DENVER, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Utah University's Indians once again have monopolized individual honors on the all-Rocky mountain football team selected by the Associated Press, coperating with coaches, sports writers and officials of the intermountain region.

Eight of the eleven places on the first team were taken by Ike Armstrong's players, who won on their third title in as many years with the best team in Rocky mountain history.

George Watkins, end; Jack Johnson, tackle; Everett Lybbert, guard; Marvan Jonas, center; Frank Christensen, halfback; and Captain Ray Price, fullback, were nearly unanimous choices. Floyd Utter, end and Theron Davis, halfback, received enough votes to assume their places with question.

Most of the experts voted Pete Middlemist, Colorado university, to be the class of the quatrerbacks Bernard Buster, Colorado university captain and guard and Leon Starbuck, Colorado college tackle, were other members of this mythical eleven which reads almost like a Utah starting lineup.

Wishbone From Pollard Turkey Go California

RICHMOND, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A man in California wants the wishbone of Governor Pollard's Thanksgiving turkey, and the governor is going to send it to him.

Ben Wiegart of Los Angeles wrote the governor apologizing for the strange request and explaining that he was making a collection of wishbones from fowl owned and eaten by distinguished men.

Governor Pollard said turkey was on his menu today, and the wishbone would be sent as soon as it was available.

TWO CONVICTS ARE DEAD AND OTHERS WOUNDED IN FIGHT

truck, using Osborne as a shield, when Bud Barnes, guard, who was following in another car, began firing at McCully and Corona with a shotgun.

Two Killed Instantly.

Barnes turned his shutgun on Shook, who was guarding Ross, shot him, also slightly wounding Ross. Ross freed himself, took Barnes' pistol and fired twice, the shots successively striking McCully and Corona in the head. Both convicts died instantly.

Jim Long, life termer, attempted to flee from the truck but J. W. Morris, trusty, and Jim Mitchell, negro trusty, pursued and brought him back. The other convicts had remained quietly on the truck.

McCully was serving a five-year term for burglary and robbery, Corona was serving sentences totaling 290 years for robbery with firearms in various holdups in Houston, and Tally was under a 30-year sentence for robbery with firearms.

Shook was serving a 30 - year sentence for the murder of Oscar Daughterty at Electra and a five-year sentence for robbery with firearms. He was the leader of a spectacular break from the Wichita county jail in 1928 and was at liberty more than 13 months. He was recaptured in 1929 at Decatursville.

Praised Guards and Trusties.

Lee J. Simmons, manager of the state prison system, who went to the scene immediately accompanied by Justice of the Peace R. J. Camp of Huntsville, was enthusiastic in praise of both the guards and the trusties. J. W. Morris, Arthur Dennis and Matthew King, white, and Jim Mitchell, negro, were the trusties who assited the guards. Their warning was given credit for preventing a general break for freedom.

Asked today whether the break would cause any change in the wood cutting procedure, Mr. Simmons replied: "No, not the slightest. The men are going right back out again today, and we'll just put two or three in the places of those who were killed."

GERMANY DECIDES PRESENT ALLEGED ACTS TERRORISM

UPPER SILESIAN COMPLAINTS BE HEARD BY LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The German cabinet, after a night session which lasted until nearly dawn, decided today to present Germany's complaints of alleged Polish terrorism toward German inhabitants of Upper Silesia to the next regular meeting of the League of Nations council.

There will be no demand for an extra session of the council, the Reich ministers having considered that such could not convene before Christmas and that since the regular meeting it set for January 15 there would be little point in asking it. The Reich complaint, it appeared, probably will make the session one of the liveliest in league history.

Meanwhile the world will be informed of the ground for German's complaints in a note embodying them to be sent to the secretariat of the league today and presumably to be published upon its arrival at Geneva tomorrow.

As far as can be learned now the German note wil lembrace two points—a protest against alleged acts of terrorism visited upon Germans in Upper Silesia during recent weeks and months, and a protets against teh alleged infraction of German voters' liberty during the recent campaign and election there. Julius Curtius, foreign minister, has been designated to present the Reich's case to the league.

this was all part of a movie set. Great batteries of bright lights illuminated the huge room and movie cameras were in operation "shooting" the defendants, the court and the spectators from all angles.

Even the Soviet soldiers who stood about the little enclosure where the eight defendants sat seemed to take this trial lightly. They wandered about the courtroom frequently, leaving their charges to themselves. As for the prisoners, they smoked as incessantly as any one else, and appeared unperturbed.

The spectators filled the courtroom, and a long line of ticket holders waited outside the building.

Kuprianov recited details of the alleged plot, and was naming French officials as parties to the intrigue when the court stopped him and announced that thereafter if foreign governments are to be named that sort of testimony would be taken in closed sessions. Then the witness "repented."

"I think," said he, "that by exposing these plans to overthrow the government he will help to destroy them. Full exposure will disarm foreign intervention, because it is impossible without help from within Russia."

Foreign Charges Be Secret

MOSCOW, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The court which is trying eight prominent Soviet engineers on charges of plotting the overthrow of the Moscow government today changed its policy and ruled that any further parts of their "confessions" which implicate "foregn governments" will be heard in closed session at a later date.

The alteration of the former policy of having the defendants repeat their almost identical confessions in open court, with microphones broadcasting their speeches to the entire U. S. S. R., came when M. Kuprianov, the fifth of the defendant engineers, took the witness stand.

Judge Vishinsky then warned him that any direct charges of intervention by "foreign governments" would be heard in a later closed session. The four defendants to precede Kuprianov to the stand, however, already had directly implicated England and France, and less directly, Poland, Rumania in their conspiracy.

The court's action followed a vigorous protest of the French government through its Moscow embassy, at the character of the testimony in the trial last night.

Congressmen Cannot Probe Communist Acts In Mexican Republic

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The police department here today made public a statement that the foreign office had refused to approve any member of the congress of the United States coming to Mexico in an official capacity to investigate Communist documents here.

The statement said the foreign office had made known its stand some time ago and "duly notified those who suggested it that it could not approve any member of the American house or senate coming to Mexico officially to engage in any kind of investigations."

Ulysses Grant Smith who is here examining the documents, is understood to be an unofficial representative of the Fish congressional committee on investigation of Communist activities in the United States.

CORNERSTONE FOR BLOOMING GROVE SCHOOL IS LAID

BLOOMING GROVE, Nov. 27.—The cornerstone for the new Blooming Grove school building was laid Tuesday with a short ceremony. No elaborate ceremony was held due to weather uncertainty. A Bible, fair catalogue, copy of the Blooming Grove Times, Lincoln penny, buffalo nickel, and a manuscript containing the names of the architects, contractors, teachers, trustees and other information were placed in the corner stone.

Only a small amount of the painting and finishing of the floors remain to be done before the furniture is moved into the new building.

It is expected that the school will be transferred to the new building Dec. 1.

REORGANIZATION OF POLICE DEPARTMENT OF CHICAGO ASKED

FOOD FOR DAN MOODY IN REPORT OF GRAND JURY PROBING CHICAGO CRIME

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Reorganization of the police department was demanded today by the November grand jury as the first step in a counter offensive move against what it described as a "super-government" of crime.

Reporting on its activities, which included an investigation into the police department, the grand jury finished its work by reiterating statements on the crime-police-politics alliance made by two preceding grand juries, and upholding Municipal Judge John H. Lyle in hi scampaign of high bonds for hoodlums.

The grand jurors charged that Chicago was in the grip of a super-government of "unscrupulous politicians and their criminal associates" who dominate the police by monthly payments of large sums to unnamed department officials.

The deport included a request that a special grand jury be impaneled for December with its only mission to investigate police relationsd with politician san criminals.

"Reasonable bail as applied to a known gangster," said the jury's report, "is something quite differplied to a petty criminal."

machinery—to be used in consolidated road district No. 1, and enjoining the employing of additional labor to work on highways; enjoining the building of the proposed cardinal road from the Lyman Davis corner on the Corsicana-Embouse road to national highway 75; enjoining the buying of additional gravel, lumber and materials in commissioners precinct 1, or make any additional contracts belonging to the road and bridge funds or any funds in consolidated road district 1 or precinct 1; enjoining J. M. Tullos, county auditor, from drawing any warrants to pay for any additional machinery, gravel, lumber and other materials or in the payment of additional labor other than already employed.

McClendon and Purnell, county engineers, were prohibited from incurring any additional expense on the drawing of plans and specifications, or additional surveys, etc.

The present construction work on the Three-Way Filling Station to Corsicana on highway 22, the South Fifteenth street extension to highway 75; and the two lateral roads under contract at Powell were excepted.

The suit was brought by the firm of Lovett and Lovett.

This is the second injunction suit brought recently here against the commissioners court in the road construction program, the funds and work on the Corsicana-Ward Bridge lateral being tied up recently in a suit brought by J. F. McGee, et al.

PIONEER RESIDENT FROST COMMUNITY BURIED THURSDAY

FROST, Nov. 27.—(Spl.)—Funeral services for J. A. Tullos, age 85 years, who died at his home here Wednesday afternoon at 5:45, were held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Baptist church of which he was a member. Services were conducted by Rev. D. P. Cagle, pastor. Burial was in the Frost cemetery.

Mr. Tullos was a pioneer of this community and was active in civic and church affairs. He was one of the leaders of the community and always took an active part in any enterprise for its betterment. He was a Confederate veteran.

Surviving are his wife and eight children, J. M. Tullos, Corsicana; Mrs. J. E. Porter, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. H. G. Gardner, Shreveport, La.; Mrs. M. Hester, Corsicana; Will Tullos, Las Cruces, New Mexico; Claude Tullos, Clyde Tullos and Guy Tullos all of Frost.

WOMAN FLIER FOG BOUND.

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller was held here this morning awaiting weather reports before attempting a flight to Miami, Washington and Pittsburgh. Her plane is not equipped with instruments for blind flying and she hesitated to leave in the face of reported fogs between here and Florida.

ATTORNEYS ARGUE APPEAL FOR BRADY BEFORE HIGH COURT

FORMER JUDGE CONVICTED SLAYING STENOGRAPHER, SEEKS REVERSAL

AUSTIN, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A plea that a verdict "overflowing with the strangest kind of mercy" be not disturbed was set against vigorous protest to alleged errors in the lower court record as the appeal of John W. Brady from a three year sentence for the murder of Miss Lehlia Highsmith was submitted to the court of criminal appeals today.

William McCraw, district attorney of Dallas county, in arguments consuming less than half the time allowed him, said the three years imprisonment assessed by the jury against the former appeals court judge, itself demonstrated the fairness of the trial.

"It showed a remarkable leniency by the jury," McCraw said. "It was a verdict overflowing with the rarest and strangest kind of mercy, for a cool, calculating and cold-blooded murder."

Maury Hughes of Dallas set forth the legal grounds upon which Judge Brady hoped to gain a new trial. Judge Brady himself was not in the courtroom, but the meager facilities of the room were taxed as curious spectators crowded in.

Stating the case, Hughes recalled that Miss Highsmith was stabbed to death on Nov. 9, 1929; that the first trial in Austin was a mistrial; and that in May, 1930, a Dallas county jury found Brady guilty of murder without malice and sentenced him to three years' imprisonment.

He recalled that Brady had lived in Travis county "perhaps half a century," and that he had served as county attorney, assistant attorney general, judge of the court of civil appeals, and "in other high positions."

State Contention.

"It was the contention of the state," Hughes continued, "that Brady became enamoured of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, and arranged a place for them to carry on their illicit arrangements. Afterwards the state contends, Brady became jealous, and in a fit of rage and jealously, in the shadow of the state capitol," killed her.

Hughes pictured Brady as "a man of fine sensibilities, educated, cultured," who six or seven years ago, primarily "because of a political defeat, began to brood and to drink bootleg liquor."

"He stayed drunk four or five years," Hughes said.

Reviewing the evidence, Hughes declared the appellant had never admitted the crime and that no witness had seen or testified to seeing Brady wield the knife.

Basis for Appeal.

Hughes stated the basis for the appeal: First, that Dr. Lee E. Edens qualified as an expert on insanity, had not been properly predicated as an expert; second, that the state used indirect means and inference to prove Brady sane; and finally, comments of the court, described as a "running fire of comment bound to creep into the jury box and influence the jury."

His principal objection was to the court allowing the state to question witness who said Brady was insane, as to the existence of an asylum for the insane in Austin, where the crime was committed.

"The inference was," Hughes stated, "that Brady, since he wasn't in the asylum, must have been sane."

McCraw Answers.

McCraw answered this argument with the statement that it was strange that these old friends of Brady, who had though him insane, should have never consulted officials of the institution as to the likelihood of treating the man, and that the questions were designed to bring out this point. He declared it remarkable that in a trial consuming two weeks, with "hundreds of witnesses," that an attorney as "skillful as Mr. Hughes" should have found only four or five comments of the trial court to cite as error.

"Despite the remarkable leniency," McCraw concluded, "this verdict should not be disturbed."

Hughes did not offer rebuttal arguments.

SHE LOVED TO EAT BUT WAS ALWAYS PUNISHED FOR IT

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lucille Montgomery have learned. This popular Birmingham, Alabama girl, who lives at 63 Broad Street, says:

"I suffered from gas and heartburn every time I ate pastries or any rich foods. I became bilious, dizzy, headachy; had no appetite.

"I suffered like that off and on for two years until my mother got me some Pape's Diapepsin. I have used a number of packages now; my digestion has improved and I feel fine. I eat pastry, rich foods; anything I please. At the first sign of discomfort I chew a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the trouble is gone in a moment. I recommend it heartily."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times—get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you never need worry again about what you eat. These tablets are like candy and just as harmless. If you would like to try them before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., and you will receive a sample box, FREE.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE, LIGHT SPORTS EDITOR

Plenty of enthusiasm was exhibited by the high school students and fans at the big pep rally held at the high school campus Wednesday night, and the fans and students in Cleburne staged a similar occasion.

It probably would not be healthy for some person if it could be determined who touched off the giant stack of barrels, boxes, etc., at Temple Tuesday night. The large array of combustible materials had been gathered by the Temple high school students Tuesday preparatory to the big bonfire and pep rally scheduled Wednesday night on the eve of the Temple-Waco contest in Waco Thursday, and someone touched off the pile of materials Tuesday night. The students were forced to spend much of Wednesday gathering materials for another bonfire, and they were hostile and enraged over the episode, according to press reports out of Temple Wednesday.

Two important football games will be reeled off Saturday in the Southwestern conference when the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs and the Southern Methodist University Mustangs clash and when the Baylor Bears meet the Rice Owls in Houston. The only game in the conference Thursday was the Texas-Texas Aggie melee in Austin. Arkansas and Centenary College of Shreveport met today in Fayetteville, Ark., in a non-conference tilt.

Numerous coaches of the Central Texas area are planning to be in Houston Saturday for the meeting called for the permanent organization of the Texas High School Football Coaches' Association. Officers will be elected, and several of the outstanding college coaches will appear on the program, including Clyde Littlefield, University of Texas, and Matty Bell, coach of the Texas Aggies.

Johnny Pierce, local high school mentor, has been one of the most active coaches in the preliminary arrangements for this organization meeting, along with Jimmy Kitts, Athens; Dobbs, Highland Park, Dallas, and Bennie Strickland, Austin.

Plans for such an organization were made at the S. M. U. coaching school last summer. Such an organization is needed and has been endorsed by many of the superintendents and principals. The coaches could get together, discuss mutual problems, etc., for the common good.

Such an organization should promote a better feeling and understanding between rival coaches, and should also promote better sportsmanship.

The regular schedules for the various members of the Class A districts in the Interscholastic league will be ended Thursday afternoon except in those towns where the district championships are held, or ties for the district title. Practically all of the A and B teams in the country have been knocked out of the hunning, and are now to turn their attention to the approaching basketball season which will get under way in earnest within a few weeks. Many practice tilts are now being staged, and real practice should start in a few days.

TWO Y. M. C. A. BALL TEAMS ARE DEFEATED BY VISITORS

Two Y. M. C. A. Ace teams went down in defeat before the onslaught of superior teams, Bryan and Bynum, on the Y. M. C. A. court Tuesday night. The Ace second stringers were swamped by Bryan's quint, 29-12, and the first string Aces were drubbed 22-12 by a fast aggregation from Bynum.

Dosser, Bryan center, ran wild in the scoring column, with six field goals and a free toss, for 13 points, while the only two other scorers for the winners were Simms and Taylor, forwards, who shot four field goals, for eight points each. Godley, Thumble and Smith, at guard positions were largely responsible for holding their opposition to a small score. Paul Dresser, playing guard for the Aces dropped three field goals, for high point scorer on his side, while Humphries, Westbrook and Hipps, hit one each, for the remaining six Ace markers.

The brilliant goal tossing of Anderson, and the adept guarding of Johnson and Pritchett, Bynum players, featured the second game on the Y. M. C. A. court Tuesday night, while Dresser, McLaughlin, Back and Nolen starred in the scoring for the Aces. Hipps was brilliant at the guard position. Anderson topped the scoring, with four field goals, and eight point, and was followed by Potter, center, with seven points, and Gerult, forward with five markers.

MART TROUNCED WEST WEDNESDAY; MEET ODD FELLOWS

WEST, Texas, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The powerful Mart Panthers won the District 13-B championship here Wednesday afternoon by defeating the fighting West Bulldogs, 20-7, in a thrilling and hard fought game.

Captain Sadler of Mart was an outstanding performer both of the offense and defense, with his pass-snatching ability as one of the features of the combat. Wallace, Mart center, was a tower of strength, while Heatly ripped off many games for the visitors.

Morgan of West played a brilliant game.

Heatly made two touchdowns and Jones, right half, made the other for the Mart gridders, while Morgan went over for the only touchdown for the home club.

West scored her touchdown in the opening quarter, but could not hold the lead against the vicious rally staged in the second and third quarters.

Score by periods:

Mart	0	13	7	0	20
West	7	0	0	0	7

Mart and the I. O. O. F. Home gridsters, champions of District 14-B, will likely meet next week end in a feature clash for the bi-district honors. The State Home Lads, 1928 and 1929 District 14-A champions, lost in the bi-district competition each year by one point margin.

Four Grid Contests Have Total Age 114

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Four football games which aggregate 114 years in age, top the list of a dozen clashes on today's Eastern schedule. Pennsylvania and Cornell offer the most ancient rivalry of the quartet, having been at it for 37 years. Columbia and Syracuse, although they have played only nine games, have spread them over 29 years. Pittsburgh and Penn State have met for the last 26 years in succession while the Brown-Colgate rivalry dates back 22 years.

E. W. Warnell, Hillsboro, officer here for years, was a business visitor in Corsicana Wednesday.

SEEDHOUSE CORBET GIN DESTROYED BY FIRE ON TUESDAY

The Corsicana fire department was called to Corbet Tuesday afternoon where the cotton gin and warehouse in that community was reported burning. The gin is owned by Jim Skinner, of Purdon.

According to information reaching the Daily Sun office late Tuesday afternoon, the fire in the Corbet gin, was confined to the seed house, and the damage was estimated near $1,500. The origin of the fire was unknown.

YOST BELIEVES MEN MORE VITAL THAN GRID STYLE

By FIELDING YOST

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Manpower is the basis of winning football systems.

Thirty years ago while traveling eastward from a season's coaching at Stanford, I remarked in an Iowa city that "it takes men to play football."

Thirty years is a long time in this age of progress and change for a single statement to remain true. Man-power, however, continues to be the mainspring of winning football.

This man-power is not always poundage, it is not always speed, nor is it a combination of the two. Sometimes it is spirit, sometimes intelligence. At rare times it is an inexplicable something which raises a team above its muscular or mental power to accompilsh impossible feats.

A football system always is the same. The plays are inert. A system sends offensive men along certain lines to certain points. Any player of average intelligence and strength can prevent it.

An entirely different situation arises when eleven players work out the system on the gridiron. Teams exist today which could be successful with the wingback, the shift, the punt formation, the power and deception, or the speed and deception systems.

These teams could be successful even with the almost discarded spread formations. The teams have the man-power to make any system succeed.

The coach of these teams had the problem of deciding the plays which fitted the men, or if material was super-abundant, of finding the men to fit the system.

The fact that some of the best known coaches did not have the players to fit any kind of a system is the reason for reverses, while other and less known coaches have experienced prosperous seasons.

PERMANENT BODY MAY ADMINISTER GENERAL TREATY

GENEVA, Nov. 26.—(AP)— The preparatory disarmament commission today decided that the general treaty for limitation of arms, which it is now engaged in drafting, shall be administered by a permanent disarmament body with its seat at Geneva.

The constitution of this body, both as regards members and states represented will be determined by the general armament conference. Its members shall be appointed by their governments but shall not represent the governments, thus giving to the control board a degree of independence. They may be issisted by experts.

The commission alos adopted an "escape clause" to permit a state which deems its national security menaced to suspend temporarily the provisions of the treaty in order to defend itself.

This measure was proposed by Hugh S. Gibson, the American representative who explained the United States was willing to accept very rigid rules covering derogations but was ready to consider fears of other nations.

He declared the treaty would not surive "imperious demands of self-preservation" and it was necessary to take account of this factor. He said fears and future apprehensions must both be provided for. "By broadening the possibilities of escape," he said, "we increase the possibilities of observance of the treaty."

Russia alone opposed the clause. M. Lounatcharsky declared it was unacceptable to the Soviets who were convinced the treaty ought to be absolutely rigid and binding under all circumstances.

It was generally understood the clause was designed to quiet the fears reputedly felt by some of Russia's neighbors.

J. C. McClung of Dallas, formerly star athlete at Corsicana high school, arrived in Corsicana Wednesday and will be one of the spectators at the Corsicana-Cleburne football game at Tiger Field Thursday afternoon.

RADIO EQUIPMENT COMPANY CHARGED ANTI-TRUST ACT

BIG SPRING, Nov. 26.—(AP)— A suit was filed in Dawson county today by the state against the Radio Equipment Company of Texas, charging violation of the anti-trust laws and seeking maximum penalties of $939,000.

It was alleged that a monopoly was created and a conspiracy in restraint of trade existed. The suit was the outgrowth of alleged transactions between the Anderson Music Company of Big Spring and the Lamesa Music Company it being alleged that the defendant for two years had maintained a trust by refusing to allow the two music companies to sell certain radios in Dawson county at a price fixed by the local dealers although the radios were purchased outright by the dealers.

CUBA ACCEPTS.

GENEVA, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The Cuban representative at Geneva today notified the League of Nations that Cuba would adhere to the protocol concerning acceptance by the United States of the statute of the World Court of Justice.

Thanksgiving Day

A Great National Day of a Great People

TODAY this great nation of millions of patriotic souls will bow in humble thought and thankful prayer. It is a great NATIONAL DAY of a GREAT PEOPLE. A day set aside by those hardy pioneers who came on the first pilgrimage to establish here a nation by and for liberty loving people. The first crops harvested, their first efforts crowned with goodly measure of success, these good people turned to thank God for the blessings bestowed. THANKSGIVING DAY from that day to this has been an established custom. A day that has survived down through the ages because it is a day that typifies the spirit of our NATION. A NATION that has prospered not alone in material things but a nation that has prospered in the fulfillment of that service to humanity that a DIVINE PROVIDENCE intended that it should fulfill when the hand of the great CREATOR of all good and worthy things guided the ship that brought those first travelers to the shores of the AMERICAN continent and again when the forefathers of the UNITED STATES executed the DECLARATION of INDEPENDENCE and set up a NATION of God-fearing and liberty-loving people. A NATION that stands out today and will ever stand out as a beacon of light and justice and fairness to the people of all the world.

LET us seriously think today of the great blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation and upon each of us as a citizen of this great NATION and bow our heads in thankful prayer that it has been our privilege to have had a part, whether in an humble capacity or in high office.

BEDLAM IN AUSTIN AS THOUSANDS TRY SEE GRID CONTEST

"ACHING" AGGIES READY FOR ATTEMPT UPSET LONGHORN PLANS

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—This ordinarily calm and sedate city of some 50,000 souls, was a bedlam today as the usual routine of state government was abandoned and the capital and its environs turned over to King Football and his cohorts.

If the census of Austin were taken today, it undoubtedly would show its population had almost doubled in the last 24 hours. Everywhere, in nooks and crannies and on the highways and byways, were thousands of fans, intent only on getting keyed up for the premier clash of the season, between the stalwart Longhorns of the University of Texas and the "aching" Aggies from College Station.

The "aching" is used because that is just exactly what the Farmers were doing. They were aching from the sting of past defeats and aching for a chance to knock the championship bound Steers for several goals, not to mention a few touchdowns for good measure.

The crowd was good natured, but there was plenty of rivalry between cohorts of the two state institutions, come to see their favorite elevens engage in their 37th pigskin combat.

Pre-game festivities got under way this morning with a parade of the full cadet corps of A. & M. The cadets were cheered by fans of both teams as they swung up congress avenue in column formation to pass in review before Gov. Dan Moody, Governor-elect Ross S. Sterling, officials of A. & M. and the University of Texas and officers of the Texas National Guard.

Thousands were on hand when the stadium gates were thrown open at 11:30. And all roads led to the stadium as thousands more hurriedly grabbed a bite to eat and then rushed to the scene of combat.

ZERO WEATHER IS ADDING MISERY TO CHICAGO HOLIDAY

ped from an icy sill 18 floors to his death while a fall on an ice-covered walk proved fatal to a woman. A switchman lost his life when he slipped and fell beneath the wheels of a locomotive.

The zero belt included Iowa where 8 below was predicted as minimum for parts of the state, sections of Wisconsin, and Western Minnesota and the Dakotas where sub-zero temperatures had already been touched as the cold wave started its eastward spread the day before.

Besides several hundred unfortunates who passed the bitter night at Chicago police stations, unemployment shelters cared for upwards of 2,300 jobless and homeless.

Throughout the North Central states, communications were hampered by snow drifts.

Freezing Weather in South

ATLANTA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Crisp freezing weather gave the south an ideal atmosphere for its Thanksgiving day sports.

Snow fringed the mountains of Western North Carolina and dotted Virginia and Kentucky. The mercury sank to 20 above at Bristol, Va., last night and dropped through the low thirties in Georgia, Tennessee and portions of Arkansas and Alabama.

Stiff winds were helpful in lessening frost in the extreme north portions of Florida, but a killing blanket was anticipated in other Atlantic coastal states.

Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama looked forward to warmer weather, but the government predicted continued cold in the rest of Dixie.

Hunting Party Missing.

DETROIT, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Coast Guardsmen and customs border patrolmen from Detroit to Sault Ste. Marie were searching today for four men who left here Nov. 11 on a 42-foot steel tug for a hunting trip to Drummond Island in Lake Huron.

They had expected to return last Friday. When no word had been received from them yesterday, relatives asked Col. Heinrich A. Pickert, collector of customs, to institute a search. He notified border patrolmen and Coast Guardsmen on Lake St. Clair and Lake Huron to watch for them.

A Coast Guard patrol crew from the station at Sault Ste. Marie conducted a search as far as Detroit last night without sighting the tug and the search was continued today.

The hunting party consisted of Frank Becker, 35, a foreman for the Detroit department of public works, owner of the tug, his brother, Charles Becker, and Elnar Altalo, all of Detroit, and the tug wheelman, known here only as "Slim."

When they left Detroit, they had expected to follow the west shore of Lake Huron to Presque Isle, then cross to Duck Island and proceed thence to Drummond Island, where they intended to camp.

Ohio Snowbound.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Ohio dug out from under a blanket of snow today which was six inches deep in the northeastern section while the temperature ranger from 3 degrees below zero at Mount Healthy and two below at Wilmington and Oxford, to eight above at Cleveland.

Six persons were killed as a result of the snowfall yesterday and last night. Five motorists died because of slippery pavements and snow covered windshields. A boy was killed when he coasted under the wheels of a truck.

Freeze in Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Freezing weather in the extreme northern section and light frost in portions of the interior were felt in Florida today.

The weather bureau said Jacksonville experienced 32.8 degrees at 7 o'clock and it was believed outlying sections of the city were several degrees colder.

Palm Beach had the coldest weather of the season when the mercury took a drop to 58.

In Central Florida the weather was clear and cool. No frost damage was reported.

second insanity affidavit filed by Fuller with Judge Whit Boyd at Houston.

The rehearing application recited that Judge Boyd said he did not want "anything to do with any affidavits." The appeal court presumed erroneously that this affidavit had been considered by the court Ginn said.

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Writ of habeas corpus for Jess J. Maple, to prevent his execution early tomorrow, was denied today by the court of criminal appeals.

Maple's attorney had sought a writ of habeas corpus to stay the execution and a writ of mandamus to force the lower court judge to hold an insanity hearing.

The criminal court ruled that the action of the district court in denying the insanity plea was a matter over which it had no jurisdiction.

"There is no procedure," the court said, "by which an insanity hearing is required or authorized because of an affidavit on insanity to an appellate court."

The insanity affidavit, under the law, must be filed with the trial court and the appeals court held it had no further jurisdiction after the lower court had passed on the matter.

F. O. Fuller, the attorney appointed by the state, declared that so far as he was concerned he was at the end of the trial, but his associate, Clarence Ginn, immediately started drawing up a petition for a rehearing.

Fuller was trying to persuade him to desist, but whether he would persist could not be immediately learned.

"We have exhausted every honorable and legal means," Fuller said, "to save Maple from the electric chair. While I believe an insanity trial should have been had, yet I accept the inevitable and am conscious of the fact that we have done the best we could."

Maple was sentenced to the electric chair for the murder of a Houston policeman.

Prepare Carry Out Maple Execution

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prison authorities prepared today to carry out early tomorrow a court mandate ordering execution of Jess J. Maple who killed two Houston policemen on the night of September 20 when they sought to arrest him for the robbery of a furniture store.

No visitors was allowed in the condemned man's cell and it could not be learned whether he had been advised of the action of the criminal appeals court which refused a writ of habeas corpus to stay the execution. That decision was one of a series of reversals the slayer's lawyers had met since they began efforts to obtain a sanity trial, twice refused by the Houston trial court, for him.

Maple shot and killed Motorcycle Officers W. B. Phares and Edward Fitzgerald and was convicted of the Fitzgerald murder. E. F. Grimes, who confessed aiding in the furniture store robbery, but denied participation in the shootings, is under two life time sentences assessed in connection with the September 20 holdup; and with the robbery of a cafe in which Maple also was involved.

PHILADELPHIA MAN KILLS DAUGHTER, WIFE AND SELF

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Albert Tarlo, 50, president of the Robert Tarlo & Son Woodworking company, today shot to death his wife, Florence, 48, and their daughter, Marie, 20, and then ended his own life.

The only other person in the house was Louis Koch, 80 year old father of Mrs. Tarlo, who notified police. The cause of the shooting was not known.

According to relatives and friends there was to have been a Thanksgiving Day reunion at the house. Some of those invited came to the home unsuspecting that anything had occurred.

Tarlo was considered well to do. His woodworking plant had been shut down for about a week.

CORPORATION COURT.

One charge of intoxication, one of speeding, and one of operating a dairy without a permit, appeared on the docket of the corporation court for the action of Judge H. S. Melear Thursday morning.

MURDER CASE APPEALED.

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—John D. Holland, Jr., convicted in Franklin county of the murder of Hiram Carpenter, today appealed to the court of criminal appeals. Holland was sentenced to four years. He was alleged to have stabbed Carpenter to death with a butcher knife.

HEAD REICHSBANK SAYS GERMANY WILL MEET OBLIGATIONS

EXPRESSED OPINION, HOWEVER, THAT ECONOMIC SITUATION CAUSE CHANGE

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Hans Luther, president of the reichsbank, addressing the League of German Industrialists today, reemphasized Germany's recognition of her signature to the Young plan and asserted that all her private obligations would be met.

He expressed the opinion, however, that a growing insight into the dangers of the present solution of the reparations problem to the world's economy would lead to changes of some features of the reparations arrangements.

"Even the most passionate champions of revision of the Young pdan," he said, "understand clearly that no German desire for revision can be directed against prompt payment of debts which are of a private character or where the creditors are private persons.

"Whatever may happen to the so-called moratorium or revision, Germany will fulfill her private obligations regularly when due."

"The more clearly we acknowledge Germany's signature to the Young plan as binding for us," Herr Luther said, "the more effectively can we demand of the other side fulfillment of what under the terms of the agreement they are obligated to fulfill. It should be expected that with growing realization of the dangers of the present solution of the reparations problem to the world's economy those things which cannot remain as they art will be changed."

Herr Luther expressed the opinion that the Young plan could be executed only if Germany receives foreign capital on long terms at cheap rates of interest. He expressed confidence that the reich would surmount the difficulties. The reichsmark, he said, which already has lasted seven years, will last many times seven years.

FOUR PROMINENT MEN INDICTED AS RESULT BANK CASE

CONROE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A grand jury returned 14 indictments here yesterday naming four prominent Montgomery county citizens as the result of an investigation started when the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank closed Oct. 17.

Those indicted were S. K. Hailey, former president of the First State Bank, now part of the Farmers and Merchants Bank; A. W. Morris, county judge and former cashier of the same bank; Leo W. Buddie, former assistant cashier of the First State Bank, and F. M. Griffith, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Hailey and Morris were jointly indicted on five charges of embezzlement, Buddie on a charge of forgery and one of embezzlement; Griffith on a charge of burning and secreting books and records of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, and on three charges of embezzlement and one of making false entry; and Morris was named alone in another indictment charging embezzlement; he, Hailey and Buddie being charged jointly in another charging embezzlement.

All four men made bond.

LITTLE ROCK GIRL KILLED ON WAY TO FOOTBALL GAME

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 27—(AP)—Miss Roberta Robbins, 19, daughter of a Little Rock lumberman, was killed and four other young people on their way to the Arkansas-Centenary football game at Shreveport today were injured when their automobile overturned near here late night. Three occupants of the automobile were unhurt.

Miss Robbins' chest was crushed and her skull fractured.

The injured were Don Rau, 25, driver, of Shreveport, chest crushed; Ernest Messer, 25, Shreveport, injured hand; Miss Jerry Wilkerson, 23, Shreveport, scalp wound; Fred Abbey, 21, Shreveport, injured arm.

The automobile struck a rock at a sharp curve about 25 miles southwest of here near Atlanta and overturned twice. After about half an hour the youths managed to aright the car and drove into Atlanta. Miss Robbins died just as they reached town.

The injured were in a hospital here today. Those unhurt were Miss Ruth Bonham of Little Rock, Miss Marion Sheppard of Little Rock and Mel Stephenson of Shreveport. The Shreveport boys had come to Texarkana to meet the Little Rock girls.

Two Seriously Injured

LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Miss Irene Heard of Lake Charles and Seymour P. Gagnet, Jr., of New Orleans were seriously and possibly fatally injured today when their automobile crashed into the eastern approach of the Calcasieu river bridge. Francis Moss, a youth of Lake Charles, was slightly hurt while Mrs. P. S. Perkins of Sulphur escaped injury.

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Two daughters of Ben G. Owen, director of athletics at the University of Oklahoma were severely injured today when their car was forced off the street into a culvert in the outskirts of the city.

The girls, Jane, 17, and Ruth 15, were taken to a hospital. Extent of their injuries was not immediately determined.

Three other girls in the car also suffered slight injuries. They were Helen Johnson of Newkirk, Nona Boyette and Dorothy Root of Norman.

L. A. Newsome, city electrical inspector, was slightly injured when the car he was driving was sideswiped by the girl's car and overturned.

SMALL ROOF BLAZE.

About $10 damage resulted from a small roof fire at the home of R. B. Brewer, 910 East Collin street, about 7:30 Thursday morning.

Lad Dies Result Tetanus in Local Hospital Thursday

Wilbur Ray Milburn, aged 11, died in the Navarro County Hospital about 3:30 Thursday morning from tetanus. The body is being held at the Corley-McMahon Funeral Home pending the completion of funeral arrangements.

The boy was admitted to the hospital on Monday. He is survived by his mother, an uncle, K. D. Dorsey of the State Home, and other relatives.

REAL THANKSGIVING FOR UNEMPLOYED IS FEATURE OF DAY

free of charge and turkey feasts also were spread at free lodging houses, refuges and public institutions.

Philadelphia—Thousands of baskets of food were distributed and hundreds of turkey dinners served unemployed by civic, charitable and social organizations. The Salvation Army was host to 1,000 children at a turkey dinner with all the trimmings in Lu Lu Temple.

Los Angeles—Free Thanksgiving dinners were provided approximately 10,000 by various agencies, while the chamber of commerce and city council worked on plans to provide more jobs and establish a city unemployment fund. Individuals and many small organizations fed and clothed hundreds.

Feed 20,000 At Detroit.

Detroit—Estimated minimum of 20,000 meals given unemployed and distitute by organized charity and others. The owner of a drug store chain contributed 500 baskets of food. Several restaurants served free dinners. A thousand men will be given work clearing streets of snow, and five million dollars in municipal work recently approved by city council will provide jobs for an additional two thousand.

Atlanta—It was unnecessary for anyone to go without Thanksgiving dinner here. A community kitchen for unemployed, backed by restaurants and private donors, distributed meals for two cents to all who applied. Other philanthropic citizens furnished baskets of food for unfortunate families.

Pittsburgh—"Not a single hungry applicant will be turned away," was the slogan here as more than 5,000 free meals were given the unemployed. Shelter and clothing also were provided by police, firemen and organized charities. City announces ready to spend $58,000 more for unemployed relief.

Annual Dinner for Poor.

San Francisco—Bernstein's, large sea food restaurant, closed its doors to the public for two days to give a Thanksgiving feast to 3,500. It was an annual event, whereby the proprietor gives thanks for his rise from a fish peddler 25 years ago. Organized charity carried out elaborate plans for holiday meals to all in need.

New Orleans—Although unemployment is not as acute here as in some cities, Mayor T. S. Walmsley took the lead with fraternal and charitable organizations in distribution of turkey and chicken dinners to all needy families.

KANSAshrdl cmfwcmfwycmfwy

Kansas City—Charitable agencies arranged dinners and food baskets for all unemployed. Park board made Thanksgiving announcement it would expedite opening of two major street projects for unemployment relief. Phillips Pipe Line company announced immediate start of $2,500,000 construction jobs.

Snow Aids Many.

Cleveland—Gave thanks for success in its determination that none should go hungry or without shelter. Heavy snowfall enabled hundreds of shovellers to earn money for future necessities. Community chest drive set record and city and county prepared to spend $40,000,000 for public improvement designed to give work to thousands.

Boston—Volunteers of America, saying it had received more appeals than in 10 years, started distributing 4,000 Thanksgiving dinners yesterday. Former Governor Alvin T. Fuller donated 500 dinners for the jobless and the Boston Industrial Home fed 400 men and women with former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols carving the turkey. Numerous other groups distributed food baskets.

Clevelanders Fed.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Clevelanders expressed thanks today they were succeeding in their determination that no one in the city go hungry or without shelter.

Greater Cleveland celebrated the raising of $5,418,524 for its community chest, the largest amount in the city's history. This will be used for social and welfare work, to provide food and shelter and to place workers back into employment.

The city and Cuyahoga county prepared to spend $40,000,000 for public improvement designed to give work to thousands.

Numerous industries had stagger systems of employment in force. Some big plants, operating at less than 45 per cent capacity, were able to provide part time work to as many as 80 per cent of their men. Methods of putting a larger percentage of men back on the job were to be worked out next week.

The heavy snowfall here today enabled hundreds of hungry shovellers to earn Thanksgiving cheer for themselves and their dependents.

Turkeys Drop.

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The bottom dropped out of the turkey market here and although the collapse brought grief to market men it gave joy to hundreds of last minute purchasers.

The favored bird which earlier in the day sold as high as 55 cents a pound, hit 20 cents before the last minute stampede was over close to midnight last night. Roasting chickens, evidently more highly esteemed, held comparatively high at 42 cents while geese went for 25 and 30 cents and only duck, at 18, was lower than turkey.

Real Thanksgiving.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prospects seemed rather gloomy for a cheerful Thanksgiving with lots to eat in the homes of Hazel Goddard and Ethel Callahan.

They couldn't understand why other small children could eat turkey and things like that while they went without such choice edibles.

Then almost simultaneously they thought of something. Often they had seen a policeman pass along their street. He seemed so kind and frequently he stopped to talk with them. Maybe he could help.

And so they sat down and wrote a letter to him. They didn't know his name but they addressed the note to police headquarters.

Today a collection was taken among the officers. A lieutenant in charge of the station said everybody ough to give something, but his admonition wasn't needed.

Two patrolmen, their pockets bulging, were commissioned to purchase everything little girls appetites could wish.

Los Angeles Feed Poor

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—(AP)—After planning to eat their Thanksgiving turkey in the open, picnic style, residents of Los Angeles and vicinity were forced by intermittent rain to dine at home today.

The uncertain weather sent fans to the Washington-Southern California football game in raincoats.

Charity and other organizations in Los Angeles provided turkey dinners for nearly 10,000 persons whose appetities were not affected by the weather.

William Lacy was killed and two other persons were injured here in automobile accidents blamed partially to slippery streets.

Santa Barbara received the heaviest rainfall in this section with 1.35 inches recorded there last night and frequent showers increasing the total today. Los Angeles at noon had nearly one half inch. San Pedro and San Fernando recorded approximately an inch. The forecast was for continued intermittent showers this afternoon and tonight.

Americans in Italy Observe Thanksgiving

FLORENCE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The large American colony here celebrated Thanksgiving day in typical American fashion, with big family dinners featuring Italian turkeys. United States Consul Joseph E. Haven read the president's Thanksgiving proclamation in the Church of St. Jomes.

A large number of Italians, including many of aristocratic families, attended the American celebration. The Florence American colony is probably the second largest in continental Europe.

NARCOTIC AGENTS MAKE RICH HAUL NEAR PLAINVIEW

LUBBOCK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Federal narcotic agents, assisted by Lubbock and Plainview officers, arrested three men last night at Plainview, exposing what they asserted was a large narcotic ring operating throughout West Texas.

J. A. Hicks, alias "Nig" Hix, alleged leader of the ring, was charged with narcotic law violation before United States Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey. The arrests led to discovery of narcotics in a package in the mails which officers said was valued at $2,500

Sun want-ads bring results.

RELIEF MEASURES ARE UPPERMOST IN PLANS OF CONGRESS

NEW SIGNS OF HARMONY; PREPARE LARGE FEDERAL ROAD AID BILLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Thoughts of relief for farmers, the unemployed and industry appeared uppermost on Thanksgiving Day in the minds of congresisonal leaders.

As they talked of plans for the coming session, only four days off, emphasis was laid on programs to stabilize commodity prices, rehabilitate farms, exclude immigrant labor, spend more money on public works, and shut out low-priced Russian products.

One thing however, appetared definitely ruled out as a cause for joy among tax payers, on this day. That is continuance of the present low income tax rate. Representative Hawley, chairman of the house ways and means committee, thinks it's out, and he is the man who will have to act to keep it in force.

No Signs of Harmony.

Just because all appear anxious to help the country, however, is no sign of harmony in the ranks over how this should be done. Democratic Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, for instance, yesterday declined to join in any anti-filibustering agreement, claiming the administration forces in the house have engaged in just that sort of tactics against legislation originated by democrats or western independents in the senate.

On the other side republican Chairman Snell of the house rules committee, expressed thankfulness this day at being "alive to fight democrats."

But here are some of the things they are doing:

Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee, is at work on permanent immigration restriction proposals, to mar for all time the entry of aliens "who would interfere with economic conditions."

Bigger Road Program.

Chairman Dowell of the house roads committee is drawing up a new plan for larger-than-ever federal highway aid to the states.

Representative Aswell, democrat, Louisiana, is perparing an administration-supported plan for $60,000,000 seed and fertilizer loan fund for farmers of drought areas.

Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, predicts a three-fold farm aid program including $250,000,000 more for the farm board; legislation curbing future sales of commodity exchanges and the seed and fertilizer loan proposal.

Senator Steiwer, republican, Oregon, is drafting a bill to amend the tariff act by making effective next March stringent rules against convict-produced goods. Meanwhile, he has asked the treasury for a full investigation of Russian lumber production, in relations to convict labor. Others are engaged in similar tasks.

American Family Finds Many Things Be Thankful For

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The American family sitting down to its annual bounty today could even find a word of thanks for two of the year's major tribulations—the drought and business conditions.

The excellent savor of the turkey—if you had one—was a gift of the drought, which greatly damaged crops, but which provided the Thanksgiving bird with the dry weather needed for the rapid maturity which brought succulent and hefty portions.

Business conditions brought a decline in commodity prices and enhancement of the purchasing pirce of the dollar, carving a sizeable slice in the cost of the turkey and all its "fixiny." A hearty repast for six, which none of the appetizing thanks day dishes missing, was generally available for around $5.

Prices of some fruits and vegetables were as much as one-third to one-half their 1929 figures in Chicago and elsewhere.

The turkey, itself, sold for 35 to 40 cents per pound here as compared with the 46 to 50 cents ten years ago.

RUTH NICHOLS ON HOP OVER NATION REACHES ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—After fighting a blizzard between Columbus, Ohio, and St. Louis, Miss Ruth Nichols, aviatrix of Rye, N. Y., took off from Lambert St. Louis field at 1:23 p. m. (CST) for Wichita, Kas., where she intended to spend the night. Flying weather between here and Wichita was described as good.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Miss Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., aviatrix, landed at Lambert St. Louis field here shortly after noon today completing the second leg of her east to west transcontinental flight in her attempt to establish a new record for women. She flew here from Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 27.—(AP)—With the return of favorable flying weather Miss Ruth Nichols, Rye, N. Y., aviatrix, hopped off from Port Columbus at 10:23 a. m today for St. Louis, the second stop of her east to west transcontinental flight in which she hopes to establish a new record for women.

The temperature was about four degrees above zero and the weather clear when Miss Nichols climbed into the Lockheed Vega monoplane, loaned to her by Powell Crosley, of Cincinnati and soared off to the west.

Unfavorable flying conditions had detained her here since Monday when she completed the first lap of her flight from New York. She battled head winds all the way on that trip, covering the distance in three hours and thirty-eight minutes.

The scheduled stops after St. Louis are Wichita Albuquerque and Los Angeles.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A cablegram from Lieutenant Clarence H. Schildhauer, co-pilot, of the German flying boat DO-X, from Corunna, Spain, to his wife in this city today gave no indication that he had resigned.

Reports from Berlin, Germany, said Lieutenant Schildhauer, formerly a U. S. navy pilot stationed at the Philadelphia navy yard aircraft factory, had resigned and was returning to this country immediately.

The cablegram, sent yesterday, read, according to the family, "will come by way of South America and will see you in Havana."

It was said here that Lieutenant Schildhauer had expressed a desire to return to this country as soon as he possibly could as he had stayed in Europe much longer than he had originally intended.

run away beyond 50,000 if all the figures could be got together—were distributed yesterday. In each basket was a real Thanksgiving dinner, enough to give every youngster in the family, no matter how empty his stomach might have been at the start, bad dreams tonight.

Then today the city, through her thousands of civic, social and patriotic institutions, grabbed every man, woman and child she could find for free thanksgiving dinners that were served in hundreds of halls, churches and restaurants, all the way from the battery to Van Cordtlandt park. Merely adding up the numbers of guests at a dozen or so of the larger parties brought the figure to more than 30,000.

SELLING TEXAS TO TEXANS THEME FOR EDITORIAL BODY

WESLACO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Selling Texas to Texans was the theme of the opening session today of the Texas Editorial Association convention here. Harry Edwards of Corpus Christi developed this theme in his talk.

Recounting the advantages of Texas, he urged the editors to give more thought and effort to telling Texans of those advantages thereby presenting a united front for the further development of the state.

Fred I. Massengill of Terrell delivered the response to the address of welcome by Mayor D. E. Kirgan of Weslaco. Talks were made by Robert J. Edwards of Denton, Frank Cates of Bartlett and R. M. Gilmore of Weslaco.

One hundred persons were in attendance. They were entertained at breakfast and dinner and went on a tour of the Valley this afternoon. Tonight they will attend a banquet at Reynosa, Mexico.

CONDEMNED SLAYER REFUSED CLEMENCY BY HIGHER COURT

COURT OF APPEALS RULES IN CASE MAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

AUSTIN, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Because his attorneys failed to take exception to a charge of the trial judge, the death sentence against Dave Goodwin, convicted of the murder of Lloyd Elliott in Bowie county, February 28, 1930, today was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals.

In its opinion the court said: "It may appear harsh and unjust for a man's life to be taken whom the record shows has not been tried according to law, but such appears to be the demnad of the legislature and to it we must submit. The rule which under these circumstances refuses us the right to reverse for such an error is inexcusable and is an apt illustration of the fact that convictions, as well as acquittals, may result from technicalities. Finding no error in the record we are permitted to consider, the judgment of the trial court is affirmed."

Although powerless to reverse and remand the case, the court held the trial judge erred in its charge to the jury concerning the testimony of Bud Goodwin, brother of the defendant. The erroneous portion of the charge was: "I instruct you that the witness, Bud Goodwin, is an accomplice. Now you are instructed that you cannot convict the defendant on the testimony of the said Bud Goodwin alone, unless you first believe his testimony is true and connects defendant with offense charged and then you cannot convict defendant on said testimony un

The New Psychology In Action

The Famous Writer and Authority on Nerves

REPLIES TO READERS.

Turn On the Light.

Mr. G. writes: Several years ago I was subjected to a humiliating bit of physical torture. This incident comes back to me daily with unpleasant feelings about it. The question is how is one to go about obliterating the remembrance of this unpleasant experience?

Answer: Psychology throws a search light into the hidden recesses of the mind. Greatly to our surprise we find there the principle that no thought is dwelt upon except as it brings something of satisfaction to the personality. Any incident that is wholly painful to both conscious and subconscious mind tends to fade from the memory picture.

Here's what may be the rub in Mr. G.'s case: By native disposition he may be of a rather yielding and submissive temperament. If that is the case, then there is a certain unrecognized satisfaction in feeling that another could subdue and dominate him.

Self-regard has a double slant, with aggressiveness usually in the ascendant in the male, and submissiveness in the female. The woman seldom has much respect for a man who cannot boss her! Looking a little deeper one sees this double slant in the sex instinct. If carried too far, it becomes cruelty in the male and abject submission in the female, each by choice.

It may puzzle you a little, Mr. G., to see that you are perhaps making unconscious choice in this matter of remembering a humiliating experience. But I'll venture the prediction that the memory will fade when exposed to the bright light of understanding.

Take Less Anxious Thought.

Mrs. Z. writes: I cannot concentrate when I am reading, or listening to a lecture, or playing a game of cards. I become so unnerved over any excitement that my legs feel weak and it takes hours for this weakness to pass away. Is there any hope for me?

Answer: Learning to concentrate is like learning to balance on a bicycle. Of course anybody can learn. But, neither concentration, nor perfect balance on the bicycle is gained by thinking about it. The bicyclist puts his mind on moving forward, and after a few trials the balance just comes of itself. When Mrs. Z. puts forward the thought of concentration she crowds the worthwhile thought off the track of her mind. She is thinking about thinking; so the message from the lecturer or the book, or the wise move in the card game can find no entrance to her mind.

Her next move is equally a mistake. She lets herself get excited over the fact that she is playing a poor hand at cards, and the excitement goes hight to the adrenal gland, stirring it up with a rumor of danger. From time immemorial there has been but one response to such a call; so the gland floods the system with its muscle-stimulating substance, meant to give energy for running away or putting up a good fight.

But this is a situation where neither fighting nor fleeing is called for; the legs misinterpret the flood of sensations as weakness, and it takes hours to get muscle chemoistry back to normal. In the mean time the lecture is oer, or Mrs. Z.'s card partner has picked a quarrel with her, and the day is spoiled.

Take yourself less resiously, Mrs. Z., whether you have missed the thought of the book or the talk or the game. If you act wisely in this there will be better luck nex ttime.

EUROPE FLOODED WITH THREAT OF CONTINUED RAINS

GALE HAS BLOWN OUT; ESTIMATE OF LIFE TOLL AROUND FIFTY

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Tsousands of tons of water buried the fields of Flanders today and renewed rains driving across Northern and Central France raised the Seine to new high levels and caused grave concern even for Paris itself.

Some of the Parisian suburbs were knee deep in water and the overflow was seeping into cellars of the city. Pumps were at work and rowboats were the only means of transportation in some neighborhoods.

In Holland the river Maas was still at flood level and the situation was serious, but in England the storms had largely abated although heavy rains fell again this afternoon in many parts of the country.

The German Rhine flooded a large area in Southern Germany but no serious increase in the trouble wa sexpected today.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Floodwaters washed over farms and through populous cities and towns today in England, Ireland, Belgium, Holland, France and Germany, spreading damage and destruction.

The gales which lashed Western Europe and Great Britain over the week-end died down during the night, leaving murky skies and lowered barometers which threatened another blow. Estimates on the number of deaths charged to the storm ranged between 40 and 50.

In Paris a further rise of 20 inches in the level of the Seine was forecast but municipal authorities did not believe the city could be flooded with less than a 40-inch rise. The river is over piers and so high that navigation is impossible. Several suburbs are under water and 3,500 are homeless at Viry-Chatillon alone.

Water receded from the Belgian lowlands in some localities, but the area along the Schedlt between Antwarp and Termonde continued in the grip of one of its worst floods in years. Bitter criticism of the government for not having provided against further flood catastrophies by strengthening the Scheldt's dikes was heard in many quarters. The Kiel hospital at Antwerp had to be evacuated because of rising water.

Holland Is Inundated.

Holland suffered also. Several townships including Zwolle and Browershaven were inundated. The Nethe like between Lier and Uffel was breached in 20 point, and the harbor wall and sea key at Bergenopzoon has broken down. The Maas and Waal riverst have flooded large areas. The Rhine and Moselle in Southern Germany still threatened.

Vast areas in western and eastern counties of England were under water today, not at a great depth, but sufficient to interrupt communication and isolate scattered dwellings. The rivers are greatly swollen and the moutain streams of Wales have been converted into raging torrents. There was several inches of flood water in parts of Belfast, Northern Ireland.

The rivers of Northwest France continued to rise today and there was no prospect apparently for dry weather. The Seine and its tributaries, the Warne, Yvonne and Aube, and streams and brooks which feed them swelled and submerged thousands of acres and fields, inundating the low-lying quarters of riverside towns.

creasing the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

The prize has been awarded to four other Americans, Theodore Roosevelt, in 1906, Elihu Root in 1912, Woodrow Wilson in 1919, and Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in 1925.

Mr. Kellogg thus becomes the second American to win a Nobel prize this year. Sinclair Lewis recently received the Nobel award in literature for 1930 for his novel "Babbitt."

Peace Efforts Bear Fruit.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The name of Frank B. Kellogg, recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize for 1929 is inseparably linked with the treaty by which approximate fifty nations agreed to abandon warfare as an instrument of national policy.

As Secretary of State in the Coolidge administration, Kellogg successfully carried the proposal for such a pact through the delicate process of international negotiation and signed it on behalf of the United States in ceremonies at Paris.

The idea of the treaty came from a suggestion by Foregn Minister Briand of France that his nation and the United States enter into a bi-lateral agreement to ensure a lasting peace between them.

Kellogg expanded this proposal to make it include virtually all the nations of the earth, successfully overcoming opposition which arose in negotiating the pact and in the senate's debate on ratification.

The treaty was promulgated by President Hoover on July 24, 1929, with imppressive ceremonies attended by Kellogg, former President Coolidge and the diplomatic representatives of all the signatory and adhering nations except Russia.

Pact Already Invoked.

The pact had already been invoked by Secretary Stimson, Kellogg's successor to relieve a vexing situation which threatened to lead to a war between Soviet Russia and China.

Kellogg was born at Potsdam, N. Y., Dec. 22, 1355. A few years later, his parents moved to Minnesota, and he was reared on a farm there.

As a young lawyer he gained such renown that Attorney General Knox selected him in 1902 to serve as special counsel in a suit against the International Paper Company, which he won.

A short while later, President Roosevelt chose him to represent the government in its successful legal battle against the Standard Oil Company and he participated, too, in the tobacco and Harvester prosecutions.

He was elected to the senate from Minnesota in 1916 but was defeated when he ran for reelection in 1922. He returned to his law practice, but in 1924, President Coolidge sent him to London as American ambassador and a year later he succeeded Charles Evans Hughes as secretary of state.

LOS ANGELES OIL FIRE.

Another Negro Held As Murder Accessory

FORT WORTH, Nov. 27.—(AP)—An Arlington negro is being held in Tarrant county jail as an ac-Evans' Johnson, night watchman cessory in the alleged murder of at Arlington last Sunday. Three other negroes also are in jail here as material witnesses.

Sam Louder, negro, has been indicted on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying. His trial has been set for December 8.

ALL OF CORSICANA QUIETLY OBSERVES THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving occasion started Wednesday night with a huge bonfire on the high school campus, and from that time on little mattered except the annual Tiger-Yellow Jacket clash Thursday afternoon that was to determine the championship of district four of the University of Texas Interscholastic league.

With perfect weather, golf courses were crowded early Thursday as many citizens took advantage of the holiday to brush up their game. Hunting grounds were meccas for many others, but none went so far that they could not return in time to do justice to the traditional turkey dinner, and then attend the football game.

The State and I. O. O. Homes enjoyed Thanksgiving dinners of turkey and all of the accessories and there was a special program at the I. O. O. F. Home Thursday morning. The State Home children will present a program Friday night.

With the exception of the drug stores and restaurants, business was at a standstill in Corsicana Thursday. All city and county offices were closed, and the post-office observed a holiday schedule.

Corsicana was host Thursday to several hundred visitors from Cleburne and other sections of the state, more than 600 of the Johnson county fans arriving on a special train about 11:30, while hundreds of others made the trip by automobile. Scouts and grid fans from all parts of North Texas were on hand for the football game.

A majority of the people of Corsicana agreed that there was much to be thankful for, and very little excuse for hanging crepe on anybody's door except for the chronic pessimist.

CORSICANA, TEXAS

ENGLAND-FRANCE ACCUSED IN TRIAL SOVIET TRIBUNAL

CONFESSED LEADER TALKS FREELY BEFORE CAMERAS AND OVER RADIO

MOSCOW, Nov. 26.—(AP)—England and France were depicted as malevolent plotters seeking to intervene in soviet Russia and overthrow the communist regime by Professor Leonid Ramzin, "confessing" before a revolutionary tribunal which is trying him for high treason.

Professor Ramzin, speaking into a microphone which carried his voice to the furthest reaches of the communist federation, told an amazing story of intrigue, mentioning casually as co-plotters with him, former President Poincare of France, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, "Colonel Lawrence" and "Lord Churchill" of England, and other figures of the two countries.

The defendant, leader of a group of eight prominent soviet engineers who are facing death sentences on their pleas of guilty to the counter revolutionary conspiracy, declared that British support to the plot waned after the second MacDonald regime was established in 1929 and relations with the soviet were re-established. Thereafter, he said, the French and border countries, Poland, Rumania and Jugoslavia, were the principal conspirators.

British Agents Contacted

Contact with British agents in Moscow, Ramzin declared, was established through "Colonel Lawrence," newspaper men assuming his reference to be to "Lawrence of Arabia," or Aircraftsman Shaw, of the British royal flying corps. Another British representative, Sir Philip Vicars, he said, once told him "Lord Churchill" was the leading figure back of the intervention movement in England. It was assumed that he referred to Winston Churchill, former conservative chancellor of the exchequer, since the first Viscount Churchill is 72 years old and has not been active in British politics for some time.

Ramzin told of a meeting a General Janville of the French general staff in Paris and, in company with a former czarist general, Lukomsky, of discussing with him plans for intervention in soviet Russia. They agreed that a force of 600,000 or 700,000 men, to be furnished principally by Rumania, Poland and Jugoslavia, with aid from white Russian sources, would be sufficient for their purpose, once the plotters had been able to pave the way inside the soviet union.

Witness Never Falters

The defendant, who was surrounded by a battery of sputtering white lights and movie cameras, never faltered in his self-condemning accusation of the foreign statesmen. He declared that he was positive, although he had never seen either Poincare or Churchill, that they were the brains of the intervention move in their two countries. He alleged also that the "industrial party' of which he was head was the actual representative of the French general staff in the Russian espionage.

He reiterated today information given in his two hours and a half on the stand yesterday that the summer of 1930 was the time set for the intervention, but that, due to various international complications, it was postponed to 1931.

Millions of Russians, hardy Siberian peasants, bearded mountaineers of the Caucasus, and dwellers of the soviet cities were sitting before radios listening to the soviet engineers talk their lives away.

Stage Big Demonstration

As the trial opened snow-covered streets echoed with the cries of more than half a million demonstrants who flaunted banners demanding the death penalty for "agents of imperialism," "initators of intervention," and "agents of our class enemies." Other slogans were: "No mercy to class enemies" and "Plotters against the government must be shot."

Professor Leonid Ramzin implicated without reserve his seven co-defendants in the indictments: Xenephon Sitnin, Sergei Kuprianov, Victor Larichev, Alexander Fedotov, Vladimir Ichkin, Nikolai Charnovsky, Ivan Kalanikov, all figures in the soviet industrial regime.

His co-defendants sat near him, smoking cigarettes and reading magazines. They appeared unmoved at the virtual certainty of an eventual death sentence.

Victor Alexis Lariachev, Russian engineer and second in command of the industrial party, succeeded Ramzin on the witness stand.

At the start he was nervous and immediately expressed repentence saying he would tell of his share in the industrial party plotting.

The session of the court will continue tonight with Larichev still outlining his confession which is much like that of Ramzin.

Denial Is Issued

LONDON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—The press bureau of the soviet embassy today issued an official denial of reports that the soviet ambassador had made prisoners of three agents of the Ogpu, soviet secret police, who were said to have come here to take the ambassador back to Russia.

The statement asserted that there was "no truth whatever" in the report, which originated in the Daily Mail.

Formal Denials Made

PARIS, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Former Minister Briand and former Premier Poincare today issued formal denials of the alleged confession of Professor Leonid Ramzin in Moscow mentioning them as playing a part in a plot against the soviet union.

The French ambassador at Moscow has protested energetically against Ramzin's statements.

Texas Boy Amazes Mother

"J. C., Jr.'s stomach was often upset and he had very little appetite," says Mrs. J. C. Bradley, Mesquite, Dallas County, Texas. "He was feverish and his breath was bad. I found he was constipated.

"My mother always used California Fig Syrup, so I decided to give my boy some. It surely surprised me to see how quickly it stopped his feverishness, cleared his breath and tongue, regulated his bowels; made him a strong and energetic boy again."

The quick, safe way to cleanse and regulate the bowels of bilious, headachy, constipated children is with California Fig Syrup. Give it at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness or feverishness. Every child loves its rich, fruity flavor and it acts without griping or discomfort. Appetite is increased by its use; digestion is assisted; weak stomach and bowels are given tone and strength.

For fifty years, doctors have endorsed this pure vegetable product. The genuine is always marked by the word California. Look for that when buying or you may get an imitation.

Surprise Birthday Dinner for Pioneers Of Navarro County

On Sunday, November 23rd. a family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Tramel, the occasion being the 70th birthday of Mr. Tramel, who having resided there for about thirty-three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Tramel left Tennessee and came to Texas about forty-two years ago, which has since been their home. We can truthfully say that Texas should be proud to have such wonderful citizens as they. They have ten children, thirty-two grandchildren and four great grandchildren, who are all residents of Navarro county.

Much to Mr. Tramel's surprise, their children and friends gathered at his home for a surprise birthday dinner and reunion. At an early hour, they began to arrive with well filled baskets. When all had gathered there were ninety-three. Those present were:

The children—first, boys: Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Tramel and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Prosper Tramel and little daughter, and Lester Tramel, who is the only single child at home. The girls and families are Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Taylor and family, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Albritton and family, and Mrs. Tennessee Pike and children. The other guests who were friends and relatives: Mr. and Mrs. Will Tramel, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tramel and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tramel and family, Mr. Jack Tramel, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelson and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Ferman Jones and daughter, Mrs. Will Abbe and little daughter, Mrs. Ben McGhee of Pickett, Texas, Elmo Tramel, Jasper Kimbrough and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tramel, Miss Minnie Belle Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith of Corsicana, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Deskin and family of Corsicana, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Deskin and family, Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Taylor of Tennessee, who is visiting her son, W. W. Taylor of Kerens, Jim Ceily and Mrs. (Grandma) Cates, who being the eldest in the group is eighty-six years of age, and is in perfect health.

Dinner was served with guests seated at two tables which were loaded with baked chicken, ham, salads, cakes and pies. Seated around the first table were, at the head of the table, Mr. Tramel, at his left were, A. J. Deskin, Will Tramel, Jerry Smith, T. B. Upchurch and W. R. Deskin. The birthday cake was beautiful. The candles of pink and yellow were carefully placed on a snow white cake. The candles were lighted, then the cake was carried to Mr. Tramel who exhausted his breath with an unsuccessful effort to blow all the candles out, as he was able to extinguish only nineteen. Then the cake was passed to the right for the remaining candles to be blown out. W. R. Deskin blew out all except one which was easily put out by H. B. Upchurch. This brought much laughter and they were all smiling throughout the noon hour.

The afternoon passed away very rapidly, as do al ldays of enpoyment. Then the time of parting. Realizing this day could never be recalled or spent in the same manner with the loved ones and friends all together, the guests left, each one with a smile and each thanked Mr. and Mrs. Tramel for their hospitality, and wished Mr. Tramel many more happy birthdays—A Guest.

YOUTH MAINTAINS MIND BLANK WHEN HE KILLED FRIEND

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Lester Cooper, 21, testifying for himself today in his trial on a charge of slaying Paul Hunter, 23, a friend and room-mate, told the jury his mind was blank when he fired the shots that killed Hunter.

He said he felt a blow on the head while scuffling with Hunter in an undertaking establishment at Texarkana, and did not remember what transpired immediately. He said when he came to himself he was lying on a bed in a room in the same building where he and Hunter slept. Shortly afterwards his mind was blank again, he said, and then he smelled gun powder and saw some one fall.

"I knew nothing more until several hours later when I came to in a jail cell," he told the jury.

The defense used 20 character witnesses and relatives of the defendant testified his mother was mentally deranged during her lifetime.

ROBBER ENTERED EL RENO BANK AND STARTS SHOOTING

NEARBY BUSINESS MEN POUR VOLLEYS INTO RETREATING ROBBER

EL RENO, Okla., Nov. 26. (AP)—A bank robber and Dee Foliart, assistant coach at El Reno high school, were probably fatally wounded today following an unsuccessful attempt to rob the First National Bank of El Reno.

First reports were to the effect that two robbers had been slain. The robber, George Lovett, 38, of Chickasha, was shot four times, once through the chest, and his death was expected momentarily. Foliardt, a customer, also was shot through the chest and his condition was critical.

Both men were taken to the same hospital, giving rise to first reports that two robbers had been shot. No accomplice of Lovett could be found, nor could officers locate any automobile in which the robber might have planned to escape.

Lovett was shot first by J. M. Burge, assistant cashier, after he had held up the eight persons in the bank. George Adams, proprietor of a tire shop across the street from the bank, shot three times as Lovett emerged, and brought him down.

Lovett fired three shots in the bank, one tearing out the bar of a window behind which was Burge. Another struck Foliart, former wrestling star of the University of Oklahoma.

Mrs. Burge, who was in the front end of the bank, ran out the door and called for help.

Those in the bank were W. H. Morris, president; Mr. and Mrs. Burge; Mrs. Georgia Cox and Miss Teresa Williams, bookkeepers; Foliart, J. F. Haley of Geary and Ed Lymann, customers.

Four Bank Robbers Captured in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Five heavily armed men held up the State Bank at Kincaid, a mining town, today and escaped in an automobile with $3,000.

Four of the gunmen were captured by Springfield policemen at the edge of the capital within an hour after the robbery.

An alarm was flashed to nearby cities from Kincaid and the robbers were soon surrounded.

At the police station three of the four were identified as Jack McCoy, 23, Kansas City; Arthur Brown, 21, Chicago, and Ted Money, 25, Springfield.

Disgusted at missing the $80,000 Peabody mine payroll at Kincaid, which was nearly all paid out yesterday, the gang stopped at Rochester in their flight and scooped up all available cash at the Rochester State Bank. This delay made their arrest easy.

Currency found in a grip at the bottom of the car totaled $2,808.

Lone Bank Robber

MARENGO, Ill., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A robber, brandishing two revolvers, herded four employes of the Third National Bank of Marengo into the vault today and escaped with $12,000 in currency.

Preparing Record On Alleged Boycott On Co-Operatives

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The 3,000 page record in the U. S. Department of Agriculture hearing into charges that two co-operatives sponsored by the federal farm board have been boycotted at the national stockyards here today was being prepared for Secretary of Agriculture Hyde.

Testimony was completed late yesterday after three weeks of hearings.

Forty-seven old line commission firms, practically all of them members of the St. Louis Livestock Exchange, were cited by Secretary Hyde to show cause why their license should not be revoked. All the old line concerns were accused of refusing to deal with co-opratives supported by the farm board.

The record in the case will be forwarded to Secretary Hyde in Washington for review, and his decision will be announced after attorneys have argued the case before him.

QUIET PREVAILS IN MILL TOWN RESULT PATROLLING GUARD

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 27.—(AP)—A cold, gray Thanksgiving dawn, with the mercury hovering adound 19 degrees, broke over the peaceful village of Schoolfield today with Virginia national guardsmen patrolling in companies along the streets where disorder occurres yesterday when striking employees of the Dan River Cotton Mills blocked traffic and interferred with the entrance of non-union employees.

Non-union employees this morning proceeded along the streets and through the mill gates without iterference. Machinery in the mills began turning at 7 o'clock.

There was no picketing at the mill gates and fires that burned for the pickets before midnight had been extinguished.

Captain M. T. Warner, adjutant of the 116th infantry, said the entire regiment, consisting of approximately 900 men and officers, was on duty this morning.

Troops patrolling the streets had fixed bayonets and steel helmets. The men came to Danville with full field equipment, and were quartered in the now unused girls dormitory at the mills.

STORY OF DEATH BY STARVATION AND EXPOSURE REVEALED

BUFFALO, Wyo., Nov. 26.—(AP)—A story of death by starvation and exposure during recent severe storms was pieced together by officers today after the discovery of the bodies of Mrs. Pearl Fenton, 25, and her two-year-old son in a lonely homestead cabin 40 miles south of here i nthe hills of the Bonidee country.

Another son, four years old, was found near death from starvation. He had subsisted for days on a sack of sugar and water, officers believed.

Although the bodies of the mother and children had been mutilated, apparently by wild animals, authorities found evidence they had been burned. They believed the woman had poured coal oil in a stove and it had exploded.

The bodies were found by sheep herders. Neighbors said they had not seen memmbers of the Fenton family for two weeks.

The husband, Pearl Fenton, had been working at Sheridan. He was preparing to leave for the homestead today to spend Thanksgiving with his family when he was informed of the tragedy.

SAN FRANCISCO BOOKKEEPER CONFESSES COMPLICITY IN ATTEMPTED BOMBING PLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—(AP)—Thomas E. Boyle, 24, San Francisco bookkeeper, was being held here todway for Spokane, Wash., officers after confessing he had transported a trunk containing 200 sticks of dynamite from San Francisco to the Washington city as an accomplice of Henry A. Ilse in the unsuccessful plot to blow up the Spokane Chronicle building.

Boyle surrendered here yesterday to police who had been hunting Ilse's alleged accomplice. Ilse, a bank night watchman, who in 1927 was acquitted of plotting to bomb the Spokane newspaper, was arrested here Monday after ownership of a battery in the dynamite trunk had been traced to him.

Boyle told officers that Ilse had hired him for $250 and expenses to plant the bomb in the Spokane newspaper building. The bookkeeper was quoted by officers as saying Ilse had confided that he once had operated a prosperous bootlegging establishment in Spokane but that a campaign by the newspaper had put him out of business. Boyle said Ilse had formulated the bomb plot for revenge.

The bomb was sent to the Associated Press office in the Chronicle building at Spokane last Saturday and was opened after it had aroused the suspicion of Associated Press editors there. A broken wire in the ignition system had prevented it from exploding as its maker had planned.

Boyle asserted he had deliberately broken the wire in order to prevent an explosion.

Informed of Boyle's confession, Ilse continued to insist his own arrest had been the result of a frameup, but added:

"There will be another attempt to bomb that building real soon, and this time it won't fail."

Make Big Haul.

HAWTHORNE, N. J., Nov. 26.—(AP)—Herding customers and clerks behind a cage, four men entered the People's Bank today and scooped up all the cash on hand. First estimates stated the robbers escaped with $30,000.

PHILLIPS COMPANY PLANS STORAGE FOR MANY GALLONS GAS

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Distribution and storage facilities for approximately 12,000,000 gallons of gasoline are to be provided on a tract or river frontage purchased here yesterday by the Phillius Pipeline company. The tract, in the Fairfax industrial district, comprises 114 acres.

The site of the proposed terminal for the company's gasoline pipelines from Oklahoma fields adjoins a tract of 111 acres upon which the Great Lakes Pipeline company has started development of a similar project.

Both concerns, it was announced, expect to use four medium of distribution, pipeline, river barges, tank cars and motor truck tanks.

The two propects, it is estimated, will provide work for some 300 men during the winter months in addition to the 4000 now employed in constructing pipelines and auxiliary elements.
